More lottery licence fee reductions requested

by Jeff Wilson

Requests for lottery licence fee reductions continue to pour into the village office.

The latest requests come from Madoc Minor Hockey, The Heart of Hastings Hockey and The Centre Hastings Support Network.

Council voted to charge all three organizations a flat rate of $250 for Nevada ticket licensing with the stipulation that a statement of where the Nevada funds are spent submitted to the village for the year the reduction was granted.

President Karen Nickle requesting that minor hockey be charged a "flat rate" licence fee for Nevada tickets. The letter went on to state that the league has between 90 to 100 participants each season and with rising costs and economic hardship the league is finding the task of providing quality sports programs for the children increased without putting an increased burden on their parents. Nickle also stated in her letter that the money raised from Nevada tickets, to be sold at Madoc IGA, will be used to offset ice rental of approximately $25,000.

A letter from the Hospice Treasurer Bill Phillips stated the Board of Directors asked that a licence fee reduction request be made on behalf of the hospice.

The letter stated that the hospice paid $576 in fees for 1995 and currently have been charged a fee of $288. Phillips added that the funds raised by the hospice are "used directly in providing care and resources to assist local community members at the end of their lives".

A letter from the Centre Hastings Support Network was received by council during last month's regular council meeting, but a decision was held over until last Tuesday.

Historical Foundation concerned with preserving business sector

The Madoc Historical Foundation President sent a letter to village council voicing concern regarding "continued preservation of the historical streetscape of the village business sector".

Graham Reed stated that it might be "too extreme" to enact bylaws to require the maintenance of historical architectural integrity, but requested that municipal authorities encourage building owners to preserve the heritage of their buildings outward appearance.

Reed added that building owners should be "discouraged from displaying garish or inappropriate signage that detract from the harmonious appearance of the architectural heritage of the village."

Reed also noted in his letter with just one or two exceptions the commercial architectural heritage of the village still exists.

Reed stated that Foundation members would be willing to further discuss the topic and assist in creating a policy that "will both maintain a positive environment for building improvement and development while also preserving our heritage".

Council voted to have Councillor Crichton Harrop to meet with the Historical Foundation to discuss village street scapes and heritage preservation and a letter to be sent to the president informing him of this action.

Madoc Council supports Blyth Village resolution

Madoc Village Council has decided to support a Blyth Village resolution to stop collecting education tax starting next year.

Council decided to support the resolution during a council meeting last Tuesday, which stated that municipalities inform the provincial government their intention to discontinue collecting education taxes as of Jan. 1, 1997. It also states that the recommendation of the Fair Tax Commission to remove education taxes from all properties be implemented and replaced with a funding system whereby it is recognized that education is a service to people and not a service to property and all funding be raised in a manner that all people contribute in an equitable manner.

Blyth Village had sent out the resolution in March to all other municipalities in the province looking for support.

Madoc Village Council had originally not supported the resolution, questioning the legalities of refusing to collect the education tax. Instead, council voted to have a letter sent to the provincial government asking the education tax portion be removed from the property tax bill.

In a letter dated April 24 from the Blyth Village Reeve Mason Bailey stated that to date 134 municipalities fully support the resolution, and others have supported in principle, while only nine municipalities were against the action.

The letter went on to state that an official from the Ministry of Education had contacted the municipality to obtain a report on council's action for the Minister of Finance Ernie Eves. Bailey also said they were told that the present provincial government is looking seriously at the recommendations of the Fair Tax Commission. Blyth Council is of the opinion that the present provincial government would respond favorably if a significant number of councils' concinnence than how important this matter is to the ratepayers.

Blyth Village is continuing to solicit support from those municipalities that they have yet to hear from and asks councils that support the resolution to contact neighboring municipalities to strengthen the proposal.

Arena ice rental fees set

The Madoc and District Recreation Centre Board set the ice rental fees for the 96-97 season.

The prime time rate will be $80 an hour, plus GST, while non-prime time rate was set at $55 an hour, plus GST.

A rate of $70 an hour, plus GST will be charged to Madoc Minor Hockey and the Figure Skating Club, as well as the Bruce Lee House League hockey.

The Quinte Red Devils

"AAA" will be charged a rate of $75 an hour plus GST.

The local schools will be charged a rate of $30 per hour, plus GST.

The new rates were set during a board meeting held on April 9.

The Board also passed a motion to make the entire arena non-smoking, except for 20 feet of the west end bleachers, which will be clearly signed.

Bishop Gary R. Walsh returned to Madoc on Sunday, April 28 to celebrate the 39th Anniversary of the Madoc Wesleyan and Free Methodist Church. Bishop Walsh's sermon was entitled "It's Me, O Lord, Standing in the Need of Prayer".

Madoc Wesleyan and Free Methodist Church celebrate 39th Anniversary

The Madoc Wesleyan and Free Methodist Church celebrated 39th Anniversary on Sunday, April 28.

For its anniversary service, the church welcomed the Madoc Men's Chorus, as well as special guest, Bishop Gary R. Walsh, a former resident of the village.

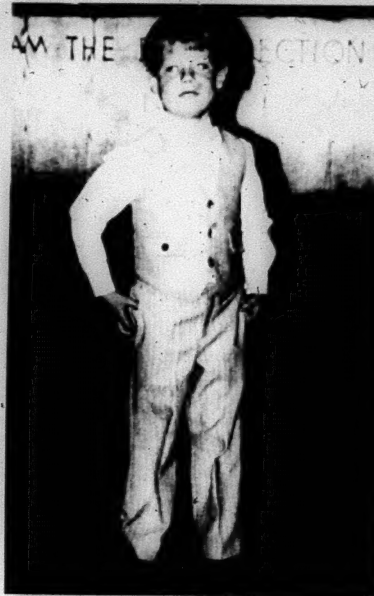

Prior to his sermon, Bishop Walsh told the congregation that he had attended Madoc Public School from Grades 2 to 4. He said his time in Madoc had had a lasting memory on him and he had conveyed those memories to people around the world, from North America to Hong Kong.

Bishop Walsh's father was the minister of the Standard Church, which has since closed. His family had lived on a house on the north side of St. Lawrence Street East, near the Baptist Church.

Bishop Walsh told the congregation he still remembered all his teachers' and ministers' names which to him meant something really "authentic" was happening in the community.

Festival of Sacred Praise

Garrett Smith (left) and Kristen McConnell (above) both of Madoc performed and received awards at the Stirling Festival of Sacred Praise Concert of Stars, held last Saturday night at St. Paul's United Church in Stirling. Garrett sang "If You're Happy" and was presented The Craig and Betty Watson Trophy, which goes to Tiny Tots Vocal Class. Kristen performed "Giant Insects" on the piano and received The Ontario Registered Music Teachers Association Award, which is awarded to piano classes.

Lions Club calendar makes a friendly community even friendlier

The Madoc/Tweed Lions Club has launched its second annual Community Birthday Calendar Canvass, which began on May 1.

The Madoc/Tweed Lions Club supports many worthwhile projects within the community. Past projects have included the Madoc swimming pool, Centre Hastings Reintegrating Centre, Centre Hastings Secondary School computers, Adult Day School, Madoc Summer Volleyball Program, Meals on Wheels, New Year's Bay Free Skating at arenas in Madoc and Tweed, to name but a few.

Through the sales of this unique calendar, the club hopes to raise funds for one of their current projects - supporting the Lions-Quest Program in the local schools that are planning on implementing it. The Lions-Quest Program is a Life Skills Education developed to help young people develop positive social behaviors, such as self-discipline, responsibility, good judgment, and the ability to get along with others; and to help young people develop strong commitments to their families, schools, positive peers, and communities, including a commitment to lead healthy, drug-free lives.

The calendar features a lovely, full-color photograph of special interest to the Madoc community. All regularly scheduled meetings and special events of local organizations can be listed, contact the phone number below to have your meetings and special events listed. The Community Birthday Calendar makes Madoc a "friendlier place to live" by informing people of the birthdays and anniversaries of family, friends and neighbors that can be listed on their special day with a greeting and the calendar makes this all possible. Local merchants, ready to provide you with their best service, advertise on the calendar, many offering specials and discounts.

In the project kickoff meeting, Chairperson Heather Kelly explained to the membership that although the Community Birthday Calendar is an excellent fundraising tool, it is also an important service to the community. The calendar can serve as a reminder to family members regarding birthdays and anniversaries of loved ones. It also helps people in the community find businesses that provide services and goods they need. This makes Continued on page 8

Osprey Point development generates plenty of excitement

Public out in droves at official unveiling in Hastings

By Bill Freeman

Hastings - The Osprey Point condominium development is even closer to becoming a reality in the Village of Hastings following Saturday's official unveiling of architect Richard Doucette's elegant design.

Expected to be a development jewel overlooking the Trent River and an adjacent millpond in downtown Hastings, the project has been six years in the works but moved a big step closer to the building stage with Saturday's reception at the Civic Centre.

Landmark event: Architect Richard Doucette talks to visitors about the Osprey Point condominium development which was officially unveiled at the Hastings Civic Centre Saturday afternoon. A large crowd was on hand at both the private reception and public open house.

Developers Tom Taylor, his wife Reta, and Pete Vanderkooy and his wife Leni joined engineer Arnie Hoekstra, project manager George Wiggers, Mr. Doucette, Hastings reeve Ken Oliver, Hastings Chamber of Commerce president Don Hopkins and Northumberland MPP Doug Galt at the official ceremony which was followed by a reception that also featured some newly-vinted Ontario wines.

"Everything that has happened has had that kind of stamp to it."

He says village staff and council were "very co-operative and professional in their dealings" with him.

Admitting that it has been frustrating at times, Mr. Taylor had some people to thank including Chamber of Commerce president Don Hopkins who he called a "knowledgeable ambassa-

Brockville and St. Catharines.

Most of the projects Mr. Wiggers has co-ordinated have been for the "mature adult" market and can be found in communities like Kirkland Lake, Guelph, Haliburton, Chatham, Collingwood, Trenton and Markham.

The Osprey Point project also targets the same market with one and two-bedroom condominium suites (642 sq. ft. to 1772 sq. ft.) ranging from $89,000 to $249,000. Each suite has been given a distinctive name recognizing local history and personalities.

All units overlook the Trent River or the Mill Pond and are packed with features including five appliances and a quality closed circuit cable entry phone security system.

Suite design

Each suite will also be wired for home or office computers and will have a number of energy conservation features.

Suite design also includes special features for older residents.

A definite focal point of the design will be "The Meeting Place" -- an atrium with a ground floor meeting area connected to a second floor library and lounge by spiral staircase and elevator. The ceiling-to-floor windows overlook the millpond on one side and the river and landscaped gardens on the other.

There will be two Victorian gazeboes on the grounds with English period lamps lighting walking paths.

There will be above-ground resident parking with visitor and guest parking. There is an exit to the Trent Severn Lock 18 and boat docking with security key access.

Landmark effort

Royal LePage sales representative Courtney Newmarch also says the design could also incorporate a swimming pool if they are permitted to build one.

She called Osprey Point a "landmark building."

"It was a great day for Hastings," a happy Reeve Ken Oliver said.

Mr. Oliver was very pleased to see the project "progressing the way it was."

"It is a big project for any village," he added. "It is quite an honour for one the size of Hastings."

"It will be a big boost for the village."

Mr. Hopkins says the

A Scary Crash: This GMC pickup truck plowed through the bridge barrier, landing in the creek bed below. The 16-year-old driver, who fled the scene, was charged.

Teenager charged after truck plunges 30 feet off bridge in Warkworth

A 16-year-old Belleville youngster driving a 1981 GMC pickup was lucky to escape serious injury after a 30-foot drop off the bridge in Warkworth in the early morning hours of April 27th.

The driver, southbound on Main Street, lost control and struck the bridge barrier on the east side. The vehicle went through the steel highway barricade and landed partially in the creek below. The driver then fled the scene. Damage to the bridge was extensive.

The teen-ager was charged by the Campbellford OPP with failing to report an accident. Police said the vehicle, owned by Madeline Campbell, was removed by a local tow truck from the creek bed.

Hastings gets boost: The Osprey Point condominium development should be a big boost to the village of Hastings and neighbouring communities.

Mr. Taylor says the process over the last number of years has been a "lengthy and very interesting one" or himself and the development team.

"It is a very personal thing," Mr. Taylor said.

This is a great opportunity for you to see our community and hospital working together in health-care.

Mark the Peterborough Post Polio Chapter's meeting on your calendar: Thursday, May 30, 1996, starting at 7 p.m. at the Peterborough March of Dimes Office, 159 King Street, Suite 308, Peterborough.

Parking is available across the street.

For more information about the meeting call 748-6625.

rest of the plant is dandy, too.

Squeezed, the stem exudes a milky liquid that folk medicine suggests can remove warts with repeated applications. Fermented, the flowers make wine.

Roasted and ground, the root makes a coffee-like drink. The root is also dried and used as an herbal remedy. It was once widely sold in drugstores under the name of Taraxacum, which in Greek means "disorder remedy."

Greens should be eaten in early spring before plant flowers. Large, mature greens are bitter. They lose their bitterness, however, if they are boiled in two or three changes of water.

A friend tells me when she and her hubby go camping they use dandelions to make a strong tea. She says to simmer the leaves for about 10 minutes. The tea is good for colds.

As Coffee: The roots of the dandelion may be dried at the fireside. When they are shriveled, break them into pieces, grind between 2 stones, and use as ordinary coffee. I find one level teaspoon per cup is plenty.

As a Fresh Vegetable: The young dandelion leaves offer a delicate taste to any salad. The way I like them is in a tossed salad, slightly moistened with a syrup of sugar maple sap boiled down to half its volume, and sprinkled with finely chopped wild leeks.

As a Cooked Vegetable: Later in the season, I pluck the mature leaves and parboil them before adding them to a stew of wild game.

Well there you are, hope you like it.

Thanks to Nora from the North. Feel free to send in any recipes. I love them and I'm sure our readers will enjoy them, too.

Chow, see you next week.

Come and you'll have "freedom to go your way."

Let's Discuss Polio!

A meeting of the Peterborough Post Polio Chapter on May 30th will deal with the late effects of polio.

Dandelions

Most people tear the dandelions out of their lawn and toss them in the garbage. They should toss them in a salad instead.

The flower is a composite and beautiful golden yellow. The leaves are dark green. The flowers mature into white fluffy balls which hold the seed. The plant gets its name from the likeness of leaves to a lion's tooth.

Dandelion greens contain 35 per cent more vitamin C than tomatoes and 20 per cent more vitamin A than carrots. They provide more calcium than soybeans and more iron than eggs. Compared to other greens, they deliver twice as much thiamine as spinach, more potassium than kale and four times more riboflavin than lettuce. They're also rich in magnesium and folate. The

CWL installs new executive

By Pamela Goudreaux

There was a large turnout for the Catholic Women's League's annual Communion Breakfast Sunday, April 28th at St. Mary's Auditorium.

The new executive is as follows: President, Dianne Craig; first vice-president, Nancy Collins; second vice-president, Teresa Forestell; secretary, Ann Marie Crowley; treasurer, Judy Shanks; past-president, Margaret Howard.

The only new face to the group is Anne Marie Crowley. Everyone else is serving their second term in office.

The guest speaker for the occasion was Sister Joan Driscoll, who spoke about her five-year experience in Brazil, assisting at the mission which her community operates. Those in attendance were fortunate to hear from someone who has laboured on the front lines of the church's missionary endeavors.

Spring Fling VI, an annual parish event, will be held Sunday, May 26th in the form of a dessert party and entertainment, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Organizers extend a cordial welcome to both parish and non-parish residents.

General Manager Jim Kelleher showed a map of the 11.7 acre parcel. This parcel was retained by the Goodrich family when the remainder of the property was sold to the LTRCA, which was given the "right to first refusal." With the permission of the owners, the LTRCA has managed this property over the years as its own and the authority's trail network crosses the property.

The owner, Marjorie Morgan, wishes to sell the property this year. She has offered the property to the Conservation Authority for $18,000 which is well below market value. It was decided that the LTRCA would purchase the property using reserve funds.

Bill Dunk was elected chairman of the Conservation Lands Committee while Don Pollock was declared vice-chairman.

A preliminary list of goals and objectives and a work plan for establishing the multi-use facility at Goodrich-Loomis was handed out. The work plan calls for construction of the facility to start in the summer of 1996.

Mr. Kelleher reported that Don Hopkins, president of the Hastings Chamber of Commerce, had met with LTRCA staff to discuss the Hastings Waterfront Development Plan. The aim is to attract boaters in the Trent River to stop over in the village of Hastings. More docking is needed to bring this about.

Mr. Kelleher presented an initial report on marketing LTRCA services that includes project management, planning, environmental education, natural habitat restoration, mapping and information management services.

Osprey Point development exciting

project "capitalizes on a major asset of Hastings — the waterfront."

"It is certainly the most prestigious part of (the village's) waterfront development. Over the next few years we hope to see other changes to go with this."

The Chamber is currently involved in planning dockage for both the south and north sides of the Trent River. They are also raising funds for streetscaping projects.

Mr. Hopkins says Osprey Point also "becomes an anchor" for other prospective projects.

As people move into the condominiums commercial development will evolve in town to meet the resident's needs.

"There will be new services and stores around the needs expressed," Mr. Hopkins said.

"Major initiatives in the Chamber's own waterfront development plans will be in concert with the needs of people coming into Osprey Point," he said.

Mr. Hopkins says he and the Chamber have put in at least 1,000 hours helping Mr. Taylor and his team.

"The last year was just hard slogging. Whatever was put in front of you, you just came up with an answer."

He said the Chamber of Commerce was also able to help by "smoothing the way with community support."

We wanted them to know they weren't standing out there alone, he added.

Mr. Hopkins also emphasized that Osprey Point is not only a major development for the village of Hastings but for neighbouring communities as well.

He says it will generate a significant amount of commercial activity within at least a 20 mile region.

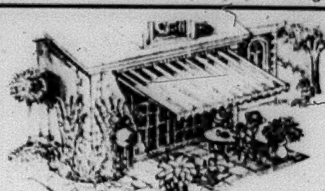

"There are pretty significant spin-offs."

Mr. Taylor says once they have sold 30 per cent of the units then they will "get into the ground."

If they could start by the end of July, he says people could move in by next April.

There is an Osprey Point sales office in Hastings (next to Lockhart Insurance on Bridge Street) which Ms. Newmarch says will be open Friday and Saturday from noon until 5 p.m. The Toronto sales division in Unionville is open seven days a week and has 24-hour paging. The Hastings telephone number is (705) 696-1147. They also have a toll-free number: 1-800-640-0099.

She says the first ten people to purchase units receive a five per cent discount.

Norwood High on the look-out for lost books

Cost for lost books adds up

By Dave Myrvold
(Special to The Register)

Norwood - As members of the extended school community, we all share the concerns of the provincial budget cuts to education and can all be affected by the results.

What steps can we take now to reduce some of our costs?

Each year, a number of textbooks that are loaned to students and library books that are borrowed from Norwood Intermediate and Norwood High do not get returned to the school. The replacement cost of many of these books exceeds $60 each.

These books may be misplaced on bookshelves in homes in our communities. Please search out these and return them to the school. If you have no way of returning them please call the office at 639-5332 and we will arrange for a pickup.

We would welcome any other suggestions to help us retrieve forgotten books. The staff at Norwood Intermediate and Norwood High thanks you for taking the time to assist us!

(Mr. Myrvold is the principal of Norwood Intermediate and Norwood District High School)

CHSS students display honesty returning lost purse

by Jeff Wilson

Two CHSS students were among four young men who allowed a woman to "live another month" after turning over her lost purse to police, last Wednesday night.

The purse was returned to Quinte OPP Const. David Craig, who was in Marmora Wednesday evening for a meeting with the Mobile Watch. In an interview, Const. Craig stated he was flattered by the four men and the purse was handed over to him. After going through the items in the purse, Const. Craig found $420 in cash (four one hundred bills and a twenty dollar bill), a blank signed cheque, a couple lottery tickets, and some identification.

The young men who found the purse were, Ryan Francis, 18, Adrian Philpot, 17, Chris Lewis, 19, and James Maas, 19, all of Marmora. Philpot and Francis both attend CHSS.

In an interview, the boys said they decided to check out the Mine at arrived, in a vehicle driven by Philpot, at about 8 p.m. on Wednesday night. The four immediately saw the purse laying on the ground, retrieved and looked inside for identification to see if they knew the person who had lost it. After contemplating keeping the substantial amount of money for half an hour, the four decided to do the right thing and return the purse with all its contents. The boys were aware of a meeting in the village that included Const. Craig and were able to track him down in his vehicle not long after he had left the meeting. In an interview, the boys said they especially wanted to return the wallet because they all know what a pain it is to lose identification.

In an interview, Jenny Hill, 42, a widow from Warkworth said the return of her purse, with all the contents in tact, was "marvellous" and she was still "flabbergasted" by the whole turn of events.

Hill said her and a friend were touring around the Madoc/Marmora area on Wednesday, May 1 and stopped at the Roadmaster's Roadhouse in Madoc for lunch. The two then travelled to Marmora to view the Mine. This is the point when Hill felt she lost her purse. She said she had just transferred to a smaller purse, usually she carries around a big bag. The purse was set on the floor of the vehicle and she thinks the strap may have got stuck on a foot and kicked out and under the vehicle without her or her friend noticing. After touring the Mine, Hill suggested they go get a drink. Upon arriving at the store she noticed her purse was missing. A search of the places they had been came up empty. When she arrived home, Hill said she contacted the Madoc OPP who transferred her to the Quinte OPP, who informed her they had recovered her purse.

The four men's actions has restored some faith in society for Hill, who said it is nice to see this display of honesty, after reading stories of killings, break and enters every day in the newspapers. She said the young men must have good hearts and come from good families.

OPP Report

Break, enter and theft reported at Nickle's Jewellery

Madoc OPP report that a break, enter and theft occurred at Nickle's Jewellery over night April 25/26. According to police a front window was broken in three places and some jewellery was removed. The thief or thieves apparently left the area using a vehicle that was parked in the rear of the store. The items stolen were reported to be mostly rings. Anyone with any information on this theft is asked to contact the Madoc OPP at 473-4234 or Quinte Crime Stoppers.

On April 29, the St. Andrew's Church in Marmora reported a break-in and theft. The items reported stolen were a television and VCR, police said.

A break, enter and theft was reported on the evening of April 25 at a residence in Hungerford Township. The break, enter and theft occurred between 5:30 - 10:30 p.m., according to Madoc OPP. The items reported stolen were a JVC television, Sony Disc Player, a Nikon 35mm camera, beer and pop.

On April 29 the Bank of Montreal in Tweed reported receiving a counterfeit $10 bill. The bill was recovered by police and forwarded to a lab for analysis. Quinte OPP Const. Dave Craig said that counterfeit $10 bills are rare, counterfeiters usually like counterfeiting larger bills like 50's and 100's.

Madoc OPP has recovered a microwave oven that has remained unclaimed. The microwave was recovered on Jan. 14 and is described as a Kenmore microwave oven, black door, brown imitation wood finish around the outside, serial no. 3B72316A. ### Approved 1996/97 Annual Work Schedule

Ministry of Natural Resources
Bancroft/Tweed Administrative Districts

The Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) has approved the 1996/97 annual work schedule for the Mazinaw Crown Management Unit and it is available for public viewing at the ministry's Mazinaw Area Office (see addresses below) until March 31, 1997.

The annual work schedule outlines all forest management activities, such as harvesting, regeneration, lending and access road construction that will or may occur in the management unit between April 1, 1996 and March 31, 1997.

Public consultation has contributed to the development of the forest management plan for the Mazinaw Crown Management Unit (1996-2016) and therefore this process has not been repeated during the development of the annual work schedule.

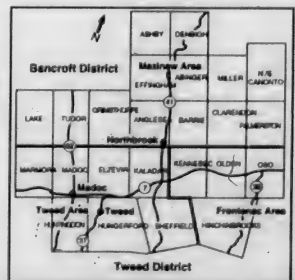

The ministry has reviewed the annual work schedule to ensure it is consistent with the forest management plan. The annual work schedule has been prepared in accordance with the Forest Management Planning Manual for Crown Lands in Ontario.

The approved annual work schedule is available for inspection at the ministry's Mazinaw Area Office (see address below) for a one-year duration. Any subsequent revisions to the annual work schedule will be available for inspection during this period.

Letter To The Editor

Dear (Community Press)
Editor:

After reading the letter entitled "Rabid Marxist" I was appalled! It was even more infuriating to read the proofer's post script.

Regardless of which political party one supports, there is no way your paper should have been allowed to malign this man's reputation in this fashion.

Mr. Buchanan did an excellent job as our Minister of Agriculture and Rural Affairs, and is a dedicated and hard-working man.

The majority of students with whom I have spoken to, speak very highly of him as a teacher.

Your letter, particularly as it was supported by your newspaper has given me sufficient reason to request that you do not put your paper in our mail box or our driveway or lawn.

Must we give credence to our country becoming a leaner, meaner country? No, if we can keep it.

Madoc Village Fire Department's Mother's Day Breakfast

The Madoc Village Fire Department held their Mother's Day Breakfast last Sunday at the Madoc Kiwanis Centre.

The menu included, pancakes, sausage, bacon, eggs, toast, orange juice, coffee and tea.

CHSS teams top list at Envirothon competition

The winners of the Central Ontario Region Envirothon were announced on May 3 at the Leslie M. Frost Natural Resources Centre in Dorset, Ontario.

Two of the top three winning teams were from Centre Hastings Secondary School in Madoc. The third team was Crestwood Secondary School in Peterborough.

The students who participated on the two CHSS teams going on to the provincials are: Salmonids team - Brian Bertrand, Erin Walker-Rolston, Billie Joe Reid, Leslie McCoy, Alison Howell; Cruisers team - Zack Clarke, Scott McRorie, Jason Walker, Tim Brady, Jarrett Elson.

Fifteen teams, each consisting of five high school students, competed in the Central Ontario Region Envirothon. Six schools from the Counties of Hastings, Haliburton and Peterborough were represented.

The schools included, CHSS, Centennial, Bayside, North Hastings, Haliburton and Crestwood. In total, 70 students competed in the competition.

Students were tested in five key areas including, forestry, wildlife, soils, aquatics and current natural resource issues. Teams were allowed 30 minutes at each station. As each team completed a station, their tests were checked, scored and tallied by an evaluation team comprised of Ministry of Natural Resources personnel.

Hands-on questions are included at each of the five stations (e.g. use a compass to determine bearing to a given point, measure the height of this tree), in addition to problem-solving and identification questions.

Each station emphasized current natural resource and environmental issues whenever possible.

The winners of the Central Ontario Region Envirothon will compete at the Provincial Envirothon in Oshawa on May 16. The winners of the Provincial Envirothon will represent Ontario at the five-day International Envirothon competition in Lincoln, Nebraska this August.

Envirothon is an internationally recognized, "reach for the top" style competition for teams of students from Grades 9 to 12.

The idea of a competition in which students could compete based on their understanding of environmental concepts and issues originated in Pennsylvania in

Since then, interest has continued to grow. In 1993, teams from 19 states and Nova Scotia were involved, and Envirothon was well on its way to becoming a truly international program.

The first Ontario Envirothon was held in 1995 in the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry. That year, 12 teams of students representing eight schools competed for the chance to go on to the International Competition in Rexburg, Idaho. This year there are 37 secondary schools across Ontario gearing up for the 1996 Provincial competition.

MNR Stewardship Coordinator Steve Wilkins stated that CHSS Environmental Studies Teacher Bill Mitchell was instrumental in getting the first regional Envirothon in this area off the ground.

Throughout the week of April 15 - 19, Mitchell and his Enviro team visited each of the schools involved in the event and conducted "hands on" workshops for both teachers and students. Wilkins said he also wanted to thank CHSS teacher Corey Woods who attended the event.

Wilkins said Madoc TD Bank Manager Jim Roultson was instrumental in acquiring funds for sponsorship.

Other sponsorship from businesses included: Domtar Forest Products of Trenton, Freymond Lumber of Bancroft, The Bank of Nova Scotia, head office, Wilberforce Veneer, Paul and Maria Heissler of Cold Creek and the stewardship co-ordinators for the Hastings-Prince Edward, Peterborough and Haliburton-Bancroft areas.

Mr. and Mrs. Heissler, Lou Freymond, Steve Ainger were able to make it to Dorset for the evening festivities and the students

Village Council against privatization of liquor sales

by Jeff Wilson

Madoc Village Council approved a resolution asking the provincial government to reverse its plans to privatize liquor sales in the province.

Council cited the facts that studies on privatization of alcohol indicate increased consumption leading to increased health and social and policing cost and the Liquor Control Board of Ontario has proven itself to be an efficient, profitable business balancing social responsibility with revenue generation as its reasoning for asking for the status quo.

A copy of the resolution was forwarded to Premier Mike Harris, Finance Minister Ernie Eves, MPP Norm Sterling, Andy Brandt and MPP Harry Danford.

Ray Gorse of the Liquor Control Board's Employees' Union was on hand at council to discuss the myths of privatizing the sale of alcohol. He told council, using the example of the province of Alberta, of how selection went down, alcohol became more accessible placing additional strain on the health care and police services.

MRCA presents conservation awards

Five local leaders in conservation were honored with conservation awards at the Moira River Conservation Authority (MRCA) on May 9. The Conservation Recognition Awards are presented each year by the MRCA to recognize grass roots initiatives in conservation within the Moira River watershed. The presentations were made preceding the regular meeting of the board of directors at the agency's administrative headquarters at the corner of Walbridge-Loyalist Road and Highway 2.

The 1995 Award of Distinction was presented posthumously to Randy Berry and accepted by his wife Phyllis Berry. He was honored for his work over 15 years to improve the health of Moira Lake. In presenting the award, MRCA Vice Chairman Ron Hamilton explained, "Mr. Berry worked on his own, with his neighbors and with government to further the cause of conservation and improve the health of Moira Lake. His efforts will have a lasting impact on conservation."

vation and environmental awareness in the Moira River watershed." He was nominated by fellow member of the Moira Lake Property Owners Association C.W. Thompson.

In accepting the award on behalf of her husband, Phyllis Berry said that Randy would have been very honored. She also read a portion of a tribute to her husband, read at his funeral service, describing the tireless hours he put in trying to preserve the water quality of Moira Lake for all those who used the body of water.

The Awards of Merit were presented by conservation authority members, Kay Manderville and Tom Stephens of Elzevir Township. Road side clean up carried out by O.G. Pamp of Elzevir Township, earned him an award after being nominated by his neighbor Alphe Godin. During his clean ups, Pamp has found tires, fridges, stoves, paint cans. He described people who would throw away paint cans still containing paint as "yahooks". Dick Bird was honored for his work on the annual Moira River clean up in the City of Belleville. Lee Jourard was recognized for his efforts in increasing environmental awareness throughout the Quinte area.

Both Bird and Jourard were nominated by Belleville City Council. Manfred Kocichin, honored for his work on the Bay of Quinte Remedial Action Plan, was Wilkins said being able to secure the funding for this successful event shows that the ministry still can do business just in a different way.

Ontario Forestry Association (OFA) introduced the Envirothon to the province and still co-ordinates the competitions and runs the provincial competition. Rick Monton, the Executive Director of the OFA was a key figure in introducing Envirothon to Ontario and watching it grow to become a fully provincial initiative.

In his remarks, MRCA Harry Brown, the Madoc Village rep, explained, "Today's award recipients have put the phrase "Think Globally, Act Locally" into action. They have made a positive difference in the Moira watershed, inspired others, and increased environmental awareness." Brown added that this would probably be the last year the awards would be given out to just residents of MRCA watershed. Brown said he would be recommending to the joint board of the Quinte Conservation Alliance Services, which includes the MRCA, Napanee and Prince Edward County Conservation Authorities, that the awards be available in all three watersheds.

"Due South" recruits Campbellford dog to play "Diefenbaker" puppy in TV show

By Rolly Ethier

Siberian husky owned by Simpson's kennel will appear in final episode May 16th

Campbellford has produced its first gift to a bonafide major television series.

The role didn't require any dialogue and the local product is back home now after a role in the popular Canadian produced hit, "Due South", starring Paul Gross and David Marciano.

The new TV performer is a four-legged recruit called "Yukon", a three-month-old Siberian Husky pup from Doug and Marilyn Simpson's Wilderness Adventures Kennel off Bradley Bay Road.

Doug and Marilyn recently visited on the television set in Toronto where the entire series is shot. Toronto substitutes for the story line venue of Chicago where Gross, who plays RCMP officer Ben Fraser, is on loan to the Chicago law enforcement. He is always accompanied by his trusty canine he calls "Diefenbaker," named, of course, after the former Canadian Prime Minister.

It's listed as a comedy drama. Marciano plays Ray, a hard-nosed Chicago cop. "Yukon" was leased from the Simpsons by the "Due South" Alliance production to play a scene in the season finale show May 16th which depicts "Diefenbaker" as a pup. It starts at 8 p.m. EDT. The popular series has developed a big following of viewers on both sides of the border, showing on both the CTV and CBS networks.

"It was an exciting experience," said Marilyn about her opportunity to watch the scene while it was being shot. The Simpsons were on the set from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. "Yukon" is actually seen for about 25 seconds in the episode and that part of the story was wrapped up fairly easily in about two takes for each of his two scenes.

"The crew and the dog handlers are to be commended for the way they worked with our dog and for being so hospitable to us while we were on the set," said Marilyn.

Asked if "Yukon" might be destined to become another Rin Tin Tin or Lassie, Doug said he would prefer to have the pup eventually end up being a "star" member of a team winning the Iditarod, the famed Alaska sled dog race.

The big question is how did "Yukon" wind up on the set of a famous television series fresh from his kennel near Campbellford. Just like in sports, a scouting network helped the show find the "right" dog.

The "Due South" people were looking for a light coloured Siberian pup that had to be three months or younger with eyes similar to the dog that plays Diefenbaker whose real name is actually "Lincoln." They made inquiries to various sled dog owners in Ontario, including Dave and Pat Hardy of Havelock.

The Hardys referred the show's "dog scout," Joey Young, an animal trainer and owner of the dog that plays Diefenbaker, to the Simpsons.

Young then made arrangements to visit Doug and Marilyn at their home to see their dogs. She quickly settled on "Yukon" as the most suitable puppy to play the role. A financial deal was struck for what Doug describes as a "very worthwhile" fee and Young immediately took "Yukon" with her to Toronto.

Doug's young Siberian spent nine days with the TV company to help get acclimatized and to become familiar with the crew.

"It was quite interesting to see how the show is filmed," says Doug, who works as a technician with Redden's Cable TV firm. He said it was amazing how the crew of 50 people coordinated their talents as a team to produce the show. The producers work 12 hours a day for nine straight days to complete one episode at a cost of $1.2 million per show.

As for Yukon's role, Fraser finds the pup after falling down a mine shaft, helps the pup get out, only to get knocked out when a boulder dislodges and hits him on the head. According to the story, that's how Fraser found the Siberian that was to become his faithful partner in his relentless battle against crime.

So much for Simpson's association with the TV industry. With the excitement Meeting Fraser of the RCMP! Canadian actor Paul Gross, who plays Const. Fraser of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police on the TV series "Due South" is shown with Doug and Marilyn Simpson of Campbellford on the set of the show. The Simpsons' Siberian pup, "Yukon", has a bit role in the final episode on Thursday, May 16th.

Calling all Wacky Water Wacers!

Traditional holiday fest in Norwood

Norwood - It's the wackiest weekend in Norwood and it starts this Saturday morning.

That's right, one of the area's most intriguing tributes to Queen Victoria happens this weekend in "the friendly town" and local organizers want you to help them celebrate.

The highlight of this wet 'n wild weekend is certainly Sunday's Wacky Water Waff Wace but things actually begin Saturday morning with the traditional community-wide yard sale hosted by the Norwood Lions Club. Everyone in the village is invited to get into the yard sale spirit and the Lions, to help visiting browsers, distribute brochures listing the locations of the multitude of yard sales around town.

Saturday evening Norwood Minor sports hosts its second annual country video dance at the arena and welcomes celebrants to kick up their heels at the Coliseum.

Sunday's focus shifts to the mill pond and the intense competition offered by the district's daredevil raft racers. Hardy crews streak across the mill pond and then court the applause of spectators as they cascade over the swirling sluiceway waters. Those that fail to provide the appropriate splashdown are given the big thumbs down by the cheering throng.

While all this is going on, youngsters take a page out of Mark Twain and participate in the Lions Club's annual "frog jumping" competition. Continued on page 16-A

More Abled Than Disabled

Locals plan Access Awareness wheelchair program May 29

"Let's remove the barriers. You are leading the way," were the words of Rick Hansen when he arrived in Vancouver following a round-the-world wheelchair tour.

Rick Hansen's tour has spawned National Access Awareness Week May 29-June 4. The week is designed to raise awareness for the plight of the disabled and physically challenged, to promote understanding and deliver concrete action to change.

On Wednesday, May 29 in Campbellford, the National Access Awareness program starts with a Disabled Club meeting at the library. At 10:30 a.m. several local people will begin their challenging assignments of moving around town in a wheelchair to become familiar with the problems the disabled face daily.

These participants will include representatives from Seymour Township, Campbellford council, a business person and a newspaper reporter.

While the local citizens test out their skills on wheelchairs or scooters, the disabled people will be moving around the canal on their scooters or moving several blocks in a manual chair.

By noon hour, the challenged citizens and disabled are to meet at the library to provide details of their experiences. Certificates of awareness will be presented to businesses and churches and other places who have improved their accessibility over the years.

The More Abled Than Disabled Club will also provide lunch to all guests.

May is rabies awareness month...

The fight against rabies is important: MNR

May is Rabies Awareness Month, a comprehensive government and community partnership to educate Ontarians about the threat of rabies.

Co-sponsors of the program include the Ontario ministries of Natural Resources (MNR), Health, and Agriculture, Food and Rural Affairs, as well as Agriculture, Food and Rural Canada, the Ontario Veterinary Medical Association and the Six Nations of the Grand River.

"The fight against rabies is important," said Chris Hodgson, Ontario's Minister of Natural Resources. "We must take every precaution to ensure that all strains of rabies will eventually be controlled," Hodgson added.

This year's rabies awareness program focuses on cats and how they can spread rabies to humans.

During May, local Community Contingency Planning Teams will be organizing activities to educate the public on rabies and rabies prevention.

The best protection against rabies is for people to ensure their pets are vaccinated and kept away from stray domestic or wild animals. If they suspect that they, or their pets, may have come in contact with a rabid animal, they should call their doctor or veterinarian immediately.

Cats left outside, especially at night, may come into contact with foxes and other wild animals such as raccoons. Rabies experts suggest keeping cats indoors or on a leash, especially in the evening. Cats and dogs should also wear a collar which properly identifies their owner.

There is an ongoing concern that raccoon rabies - which has been identified on the New York State side of the Niagara River, and within 10 kilometres of the St. Lawrence River near Gananoque - may enter Ontario.

A raccoon immunization program, called Trap-Vaccinate-Release (TVR), has created a buffer zone against raccoon rabies in that portion of Ontario between the Niagara River and the Welland Canal. Additional buffer zones have also been created at bridges along the Ontario side of the St. Lawrence River, where infected raccoons could enter from New York State.

Through this program, raccoons are live-trapped, vaccinated, ear-tagged and released. MNR hopes that the TVR program will contain or slow the spread of raccoon rabies.

MNR's Rabies Research Unit has also developed a contingency plan on how any potential spread of raccoon rabies will be contained in areas where the animals have not been vaccinated. This could occur where raccoons with rabies enter Ontario as "stowaways" on transport trucks, recreational vehicles or boats.

1996 GOLF GUIDE

Knowing Your Golf Clubs!

By Gary Alex
Professional
Golf Clubmaker

Most golfers are not aware of the dramatic affect an improperly fitted club can have on their game.

If you're not as consistent as you desire, one or more of your club specifications may not match your swing characteristics or ability.

The chart will provide you some general guidance on how various technical aspects of your clubs may affect your game.

A professional clubmaker can check your swing and equipment to ensure they match for more consistent ball striking and enjoyment of the game.

(This is part of a series of articles designed to educate golfers on the technical aspects of golf equipment and how they affect their golf games. Mr. Alex operates a golf shop on Hwy. 30, specializing in component clubmaking.)

Don't change horses; just try a new saddle

I would like to talk about saddles, but more specifically, your saddle and how it fits your horse. This is a very touchy subject which almost grinds on an individual's ego.

Admitting you may have been riding in a saddle for months, and finding out you have been causing your horse severe pain and back stress is almost as hard as apologizing for some people. Trust me, I've been there.

Seven years ago, I purchased a Quarter Horse/Arab Cross Paint. She is only 14.2 hands, but as stocky as they come. Her withers and back are fairly flat, taking on a more "rounded" figure.

Next, I purchased a saddle. It looked good to me, as far as color and design, but most importantly, at that time, it fit me. I took it home, put it on Cinder, ran my hands along the sides to make sure it was sitting on her properly, and then got on.

I continued to ride in this saddle for the next four years, and put on several miles. I gamed her, used her as a lead horse taking out trail rides, which could sometimes lead to 6-7 hours in the saddle at one time.

Cinder was extremely hyper, and not many people wanted to ride her. She wouldn't stand when I tried to get on, tossed her head despite several smacks when she hit her head in my face, "pranced" around like a parade horse, and always wanted to run.

I couldn't tire her out. Overall, she was a handful. However, because I personally don't buy and sell, I put up with it and asked every one I met for some ideas.

Suggestions ranged from tie downs to hold her head, to run her for two hours straight so she doesn't ever want to walk, to only walk her on a ride, so she learns to walk. I went through 10 different bits, and I never did find a strong enough curb chain.

Then, after four years of the "horse from hell", I met two people heavily involved in Endurance and Competition Trail Riding: Donna Spencer and Deloris Phillips.

I thought I would try endurance riding to tire her out. Well, instead I had my ego crushed. After explaining to these two saddle experts, what a well-conditioned, fast-paced horse I had, they broke the news to me.

These words were all too familiar to them as they had both also encountered the same symptoms. They asked me if my horse ever lowered or flinched her back when I ran my hand down her spine. The truth was I had never checked.

But after one and one-half hours on the phone with Deloris, I went out and checked. Sure enough, she was right: my horse had a sore back. Even though she had never had a saddle sore or any white hairs from nerve damage, she was sore.

Of course, my first reaction was denial: I couldn't change the truth just by ignoring it. Now what? I didn't have enough money for a new saddle, and I didn't want to give up riding for the season.

Thus, my grounds for this article. I know there are several people out there riding with saddles that don't fit. I have seen it. But I know I can make enough enemies without going out and asking for one by saying: "Hey, did you know your saddle doesn't fit?"

Here is a check list of signs of a wrong saddle.

But remember: you can't change the truth by ignoring it; you owe it to your horse to at least make an attempt to rectify the situation: what do you have to lose? and you can't rectify the situation with a saddle pad or extra blanket.

Signs: bucks; tosses head; cold-backed; dry spots under wet blanket; runs away; refuses jumps; is hard to catch; stumbles frequently; quits working mid-season; doesn't travel downhill well; will not tolerate saddling, cinching or mounting; acts great for first portion of ride, then behaviour deteriorates; will not work calmly; wants to go faster despite efforts to slow him down; hollow backed.

If you take a moment to think about this, it makes sense. Pretend you have a sore back. Now, someone tightens this painful contraption on your back. You turn your head towards them gently, then with your ears back. They ignore you.

So you swish your tail and side-step, trying to express your discomfort, but they give you a swat and tell you to stand still. You kick up with your back legs. This should let them know you are concerned about this painful device, but to your surprise, rather than listen, they kick you back.

Oh no! they're going to get on. They are going to put all their weight on this stupid contraption that digs into your shoulders or pinches your skin. You have to stop them.

So you move around, and even throw in a little buck. You have to get your point across. But they only yell at you and slap you with their reins or crop. They didn't listen to your pleas for understanding.

Now that the stress is actually felt in your joints, you throw your head trying to relax those places. If you could just find a comfortable position. (But rider makes a mental note to use a tie down, to hold your head in place, next ride).

So you try to run faster, thinking you might be able to outrun the saddle and leave it behind. But the rider only pulls harder on the metal piece in your mouth, and the recently added curb chain bites into your chin.

What should you do next? What can you do? One of two things:

Give in. Let the rider think they have "broken" you of your "bad" habits. Become submissive and endure the pain rather than punishment.

Become resentful and nasty. Then maybe they will leave you alone. Continue to run away and twist your head to the side, or maybe buck a new and unsuspecting rider off. Or better yet, just make sure they can't catch you the next time they want to go for a ride.

Well, now that I may have offended a few long-time and more experienced riders than myself, I will close for this week. I think I have given you a lot to chew until my next column.

Next time, I will finish this topic with ways to actually pinpoint the soreness; how to determine why your saddle is causing stress and lastly, hopefully provide a few ideas on how to adjust your current saddle to your horse's back.

SPRING & SUMMER LAWN & GARDEN GUIDE

Keeping the lawn in shape makes a yard look beautiful

With the return of spring, homeowners begin to work on their yard, planting everything from beautiful floral borders to huge vegetable gardens. However, if their lawn doesn't look lush and green, the yard can lose its appeal and all of the work put into it could be for naught.

To help homeowners maintain a healthy lawn, The Lawn Institute recommends that they have a lawn-care program that works.

Many lawn-care experts believe that a majority of lawn problems are a result of not mowing at the proper height and not keeping the lawn-mower blade sharp-ing season. Every type of grass has a specific height for optimum performance. Keeping grass at its best growing height will increase a lawn's density and attractiveness - and reduce problems.

A simple rule of thumb to follow when mowing is to never remove more than one-third of the leaf surface each time the lawn is mowed. Leaf surface, or cutting height, refers to the length of grass above the soil. Cutting below the optimum height impedes root development, which is essential to having a dense, healthy lawn.

Also, homeowners don't have to collect the grass clippings after they finish mowing. These clippings decompose quickly and put nutrients back into the soil. It's a built-in fertilization program, according to the institute.

When it comes to watering a lawn, the institute says that the best lawns grow when they are watered heavily at infrequent intervals. On average, the lawn needs about 1 inch of water a week, either from rain or irrigation during the growing season. This inch of water normally will soak the soil to a depth of 4 to 6 inches, which allows the root system to reach deep into the soil.

Homeowners should determine the rate of application of their sprinkler system to set up any irrigation program. An easy way to do this is to set out a series of cans if they have an underground sprinkler system or a couple of cans if they use a single sprinkler. After running the system for 30 minutes, they can measure the water in the cans and determine the length of time it will take to apply 1 inch of water.

The best times to water a lawn are in the early morning or early evening, when there is generally less wind and heat. The least desirable times are in the heat of the afternoon, when water evaporates too quickly, and very late in the evening, which can cause the lawn to stay wet all night. This encourages disease development.

With these tips, home owners can be well on their way to a healthy, lush lawn and a beautiful yard.

Decorative planter provides plenty of herbs

Parsley, sage, rosemary and thyme - grow your favorite herbs in a decorative planter for a delightful display and handy supply.

A strawberry pot is ideal with its protruding pockets that allow an assortment of herbs to cascade from all sides, providing versatility in the kitchen, as well as an attractive show on the deck. Most herbs are sun-lovers, so choose a sunny site where they will be convenient for picking. Position tall herbs, like chives, parsley and mint, at the center and shorter or trailing herbs toward edges and in the pockets.

For best results, use a top-quality, peat-based potting mix. An easy way to judge quality is to look at the ingredients listed on the potting-mix bag. The proper mix is particularly important for container plants to ensure adequate drainage. Yard soil tends to retain too much water, leading to rotting roots, and poor-quality potting mixes allow water to run through too quickly, leading to dried-out plants.

Creating the herb planter is easy. You will need a strawberry pot, about 10 herb plants, peat-based potting mix, some small stones and a cardboard tube from wrapping paper.

1. Add about 2 inches of peat moss to the bottom of the strawberry planter. Place the cardboard tube in the center of the planter. Work it into the peat moss so that it remains upright.

2. Fill the pot with potting mixture to the first pockets. Now add plants, gently passing roots through the holes. Cover roots with potting mix, and repeat until planter is filled. Leave about 1 inch between the potting mixture and the planter rim to allow for watering.

3. Fill the cardboard tube with small stones, and then carefully pull it out. The stones improve drainage, allowing water to seep evenly throughout the potting mix.

4. Plant herbs in the open soil at the top of the planter.

A strawberry pot is ideal for keeping a fresh herb garden. All it takes are the right ingredients: a healthy potting soil with plenty of organic matter, like peat moss or compost, herbs and lots of sunshine.

Use herbs that require less water, like basil, thyme and rosemary.

The herbs should be ready for picking within a few weeks. Water the planter frequently to keep the soil moist but not wet to the touch, and use a water-soluble fertilizer every two weeks. Pick herbs often, never taking more than a third of the plant at one time. The best time to pick is in the morning. For best flavor and fragrance, harvest herbs before they bloom.

SPRING & SUMMER LAWN CARE

Window boxes add curb appeal to homes

Consider window boxes. They're small investments that yield big returns in color and curb appeal for the home. Change the plants with the seasons, and give your home an instant face lift.

Traditional wooden window boxes are rectangular in shape and painted to match or complement the house colors. However, it's perfectly acceptable, and often more fun, to use your imagination and create a window box that fits your personality and abode - whether it be a cottage, castle, condo or cabin.

Consider using plywood cutouts of rabbits, geese or cows to decorate the window box of a child's playhouse. Stencil carrots, radishes or herbs on a window box of a garden shed. Add sailboats or starfish to the design of a window box for the beach house.

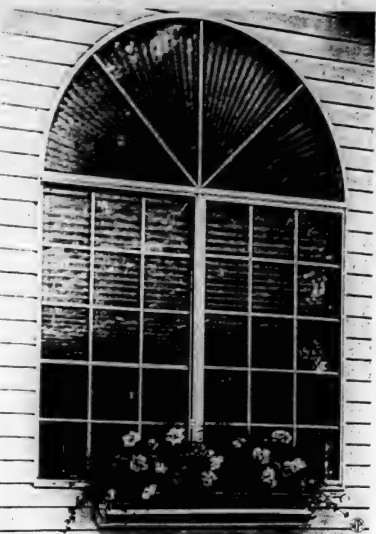

If your retreat is a shady mountain cabin, why not design window boxes using fishing creels? Decorative molding can be glued directly onto a plain window box for instant pizzazz.

When building your own window box, it should extend the entire width of your window. Attach the window box to the house using wood screws - include a 1/2-inch spacer to protect your home from moisture buildup. Mount the window box so that the top edge is just below the windowsill.

The soil in a window box dries out more quickly than soil around plants in the ground, because a window box is exposed to air on three sides. Use peat-based potting mix because it retains moisture - yet allows proper aeration of roots. If the potting mix feels dry at a depth of 1 inch, it's time to water.

Be sure that your window box has drainage holes to allow excess water to move away from delicate plant roots. Cover the drainage holes with fine mesh to keep potting mix from draining out.

A copper window box with colorful flowers can enhance today's popular palladium windows.

The secret to a clear, healthy pond

Whether you are a novice or an expert you will both have the same objective in mind - a clean clear pond which can provide a healthy environment for your fish and be enjoyed without unnecessary work.

Unlike lakes and rivers, garden ponds are of small size with limited depth. Therefore they warm up and level of oxygen in pond water. However, relatively high concentrations of oxygen are necessary to support healthy fish. The introduction of air into pond water, i.e., aeration, raises and stabilizes the level of oxygen in the water. In addition, the turbulence created by the aeration will remove toxic gases.

Pond pumps perform a dual role within your pond.

They aerate the water providing oxygen and removing harmful gases. They circulate water to the filter and pond management equipment.

able pump at the deepest point. Lastly, dirty filter definitely work best. Only clean foam filter when absolutely necessary.

CALCULATE VOLUME OF POND:

1. Rectangular: Avg. LxWxDx7.5=U.S. gallons
2. Circular: 3.4x(1/2 dia.x 1/2 dia.)x Avg. Dx7.5=U.S. gallons cool down more quickly and experience greater extremes of temperature than natural bodies of water. These conditions stimulate the growth of algae which cause green water and blanket weed.

Compared with natural ponds, garden ponds usually heavily stocked with fish, which are fed more than they would normally find to eat in their natural habitat. Fish produce waste in proportion to the amount of food eaten. This pollution is created by the decomposition of plants and uneaten food. If pollutants are not removed, they will eventually poison your fish.

Both green water and pollution can reduce the Pond filter also perform a dual role. They filter out solid material including fish waste and algae, helping to create clear water. They make use of friendly bacteria which build up on the surface of the filter and remove the harmful pollutants, ammonia and nitrites.

Don't build your pond too small or too shallow.

These can suffer from rapid temperature changes which stress your fish. Try to locate your pond out of full sun, but away from trees that shed their leaves. To have pond lilies, you should have 6 or more hours of sun. Make sure there is an opportunity to fit a submers-

SPRING & SUMMER LAWN & GARDEN

Seven habits of highly effective gardeners

You can grow healthier lawns and beautiful flowers by following these seven habits of successful gardeners.

They also will lead you down the garden path toward less maintenance and more time to enjoy a healthier, more beautiful landscape and garden.

1. Amend soil annually. Add 2 inches of peat moss or a peat moss/compost blend, and work this into the top 6 to 8 inches of soil. Use peat moss to amend the soil when planting trees, adding a lawn or transplanting. The better your soil, the healthier your plants and the easier it is for you to garden.

2. Water regularly, and feed when necessary. Feel the soil to decide when your plants need more water. Fertilize when your plants need it - not just when you get around to it. Too much fertilizer causes as much harm as too little, resulting in a scorched or burned look to the foliage or fast, rank growth more susceptible to insects and disease. Read and follow label instructions.

3. Mulch is a must. Mother Nature never intended the soil to be naked. A mulch is like frosting on a cake - you could do without, but why would you want to? A few inches of an organic mulch will conserve moisture, block weeds, equalize soil temperature and slowly feed the plants.

4. Be picky about your plants. Choose varieties that offer more than one season of interest: spring-flowering trees with interesting bark in the winter or blooming shrubs with the added bonus of winter berries or autumn-foliage color.

5. Compost. Nothing else does so much for so little. By layering green material (a source of nitrogen), like grass clippings, weeds and pruning crumbs, with brown material (a source of carbon), like fallen leaves, peat moss or soil, you can create a rich, black compost perfect for adding to poor soil or as a feeding mulch.

6. Walk your garden frequently. This will encourage you to deadhead, pick weeds, and appreciate the small details and tiny miracles that make gardening so satisfying.

7. Garden and learn. Avoid costly mistakes by reading, talking to other gardeners and sharing information. The education of a gardener can be just as enjoyable as the hobby itself.

Four steps to a new lawn

A lovely new lawn could be just two weekends away if you follow this checklist of steps to take. Like any big project, breaking the job down into manageable chunks will smooth out the problems of when to do what. Extend this guide into four weekends if your new lawn is going to be quite large, and speed things up to just a two-day project if you're adding lawn to a small area.

Before You Begin

Measure the area where you want to lay sod or seed, and calculate the square footage by multiplying the width by the length.

If using sod, call and reserve the amount you'll need, and schedule delivery on the day you will finish soil preparation.

Stockpile the supplies you will need for the project: fertilizer, peat moss, sprinkler and grass seed.

First Saturday

Prepare your soil. Remove big weeds and rocks, and then rototill the area to a depth of at least 6 inches. The deeper you can loosen the soil, the deeper the roots will grow and the less care from you the lawn will need.

First Sunday

Improve your soil. Work 2 to 3 inches of peat moss or a peat moss/compost blend into the top 6 to 8 inches of soil. Organic matter like peat moss helps sandy soil to retain moisture and loosens and improves drainage in clay or hard-packed soil.

Second Saturday

Level and rake. Drag a ladder or wooden plank across the new lawn area to make sure the bed is level and free of dips. If you rent a landscaper's rake, go over the ground twice to smooth out the rough spots. Another tool the professionals use is a roller. These are also available for rent and are used to break down small lumps of soil just before seeding.

Second Sunday

Once the soil is tilled, amended and leveled, it's time to add fertilizer. Make sure you spread a lawn food especially formulated for new lawns.

At last you're ready to spread seed or sod the area. Hand seeding or seeding with a drop spreader is the least expensive. After sprinkling the soil with seed, top it off with a thin layer of peat moss (no more than 1/4 inch deep). This will help keep the seed from blowing away or drying out.

Sodding gives instant gratification, and because you start with a thick grass carpet, there is less trouble with invading weeds. After you lay sod, be sure to fill in the cracks between the sections with peat moss. This will help the sod sections to knit together quickly.

Once the seed or sod is down, all you have to do is keep the new lawn well-watered until established. The soil should be moist at all times, but not wet. This could mean watering twice a day in hot weather or once a week if it rains.

Sno-Fest joins worldwide web

Even though it's summer, Marmora Sno-Fest members continue to raise funds for the 1997 races.

Plans are underway for the sled dog races next February, including the 150-mile Classic, the popular 60-mile race, and the crowd-pleasing Madcap 7 and Little Nippers races.

1997 marks the 19th year of racing in Marmora, and new Chairman Cathie Jones reports that plans are progressing to make the 20th anniversary Sno-Fest special.

In support of Sno-Fest, Steeman's Brewery will host a baseball tournament on June 28, 29 & 30 at the local ball diamond.

At the volunteer appreciation dinner, outgoing Sno-Fest Chairman Anne Philpot introduced the 1996-97 executive members: Chairman - Cathie Jones; Treasurer - Donna Bennett; Race Marshall:

Publisher - Peter Scales; Executive Officer - Donna Landry; Secretary - Judy Backus and Trail Marshall

Bob Drummond. For further information on Sno-Fest, or on how to become a volunteer, contact Cathie Jones at 472-2202; Anne Philpot at 472-5208 or Internet pscates@blvd.net.

Brock Mission kicks off drive to build women's shelter

Peterborough - Since 1987, the Brock Mission in Peterborough has provided close to 75,000 meals and 30,000 nights of shelter to men in need.

The 1990s have brought new challenges to the community and every week the Brock Mission receives more and more requests from women looking for shelter. These requests represent only a small portion of women seeking shelter on a nightly basis.

In an effort to meet the needs of these women and their children, the Mission has made a commitment to establish a 24-hour, 365 day-a-year, short-term

"emergency" shelter for women.

The Brock Sister Mission will be able to provide short-term housing with regular meals; advocacy and support; referrals to appropriate community agencies; some clothing; practical assistance and laundry and shower facilities.

Already, through the generous donations of a number of community-minded people and organizations, enough money has been raised to put a down payment on a "home" for the sister mission -- a 12-room building located at 738 Chemong Rd.

The doors to the mission are scheduled to open in September but before this goal becomes a working reality the Brock Sister Mission will need the continuous generous support of the community to attain a five-year capital and annual operating budget of $350,000.

Backed by an aggressive fundraising plan, the Brock Mission will be calling on all facets of the community for the financial support necessary to open its doors as soon as possible.

You can help support the Brock Sister Mission by volunteering, donating money or goods or becoming an associate member.

To help out call (705) 748-4766.

Raft racing time in Norwood

test. This being an Olympic year, the jumping competition will generate a great deal of interest Sunday afternoon.

Mill pond activities reach a crescendo with the release of the Lions Clubs highly independent rubber ducks. Fearless and built for speed, these fleet racers tear their way down the Ouse River and an eventual date with destiny. If you are lucky enough to hold the winning ticket you will walk away from the finish line $1,000 richer.

Tickets are available from any Lions Club member or at Norwood Home Hardware.

You can take your winnings to the town hall where you can buy quite a bit of spaghetti at the Lions and Lioness Club's Italian Extravaganza. Chow down on some fantastic pasta then head off to Peterborough and try to dicker with scalpers for a ticket to the Memorial Cup championship game.

What more could you ask of a Victoria Day Weekend holiday?

If you are interested in entering a raft in Sunday's races you can do so by contacting Jack Begg (639-5741).

Guest Editorial

With great respect, your opinion simply doesn't measure up!

By Rolly Ethier

Admittedly I listen to radio talk host Milt Johnston at CIBO Belleville because of the outrageous opinions I usually hear, not so much from the phone-in folks but from Milt himself.

Maybe I shouldn't listen because it tends to get your blood boiling and transforms you into a foul mood for some hours to come.

Whatever you do please don't call Milt and state any opinions that may conflict with his own left-wing sentiments or be prepared to be shot down in arrogant fashion.

Here's some sample reaction when Uncle Miltie disagrees with those listeners who defend a favour by calling in to make comments to help make the program:

"I understand this is your view."

"That's your assertion."

"So you say but I don't really believe it."

"I understand your position but I don't necessarily agree with you."

"I simply say to you sir that the facts don't back your position. You make absolutely no sense. And there it is!"

"You misrepresent the true facts."

"I understand you wish to present it in this fashion but that's not how the members have voted. It's in parliament and it will be dealt with there. It's unfortunate that you choose to use those scare-mongering tactics to make your point."

"With great respect, it's not that bad!"

"I'm really not going to engage in an attempt to change your mind."

Then there's the silent treatment when the caller rambles on at length without any comment from Johnston, who makes no effort whatever to engage in any discussion. Maybe the host goes out for a coffee and doughnut on those occasions.

So would I even consider calling Uncle Miltie to make my opinion known and play pat in his distasteful game of political rhetoric? Not likely!

Lion's Story

as related by Lion Art

Three little-lions lived with their parents in a very special place. The little lions have been fascinated with the big human Lions. Father and Mother lion have been telling the little ones about these human Lions.

"Can we join the Lions?" asked Kit Heather. "I mean, I would like to join. I would like to be part of the Lions. It would be neat helping in the community."

"No way!" Kit Heather. "You can't join the Lions," said her father.

"Gee, but I would like to join. How do the humans join?" asked Kit Heather.

"I don't think people just join. They ask about the Lions. They get to know more about the Lions and try to find out if they would be happy being a Lion," replied Dad.

"I would be happy being a Lion!" declared Kit Al firmly. "I like the things they do."

"Well, that is nice. The humans who think that they might like to join ask a Lion about the club. They get information, and if they still wish to learn more, they usually come to a dinner meeting to 'meet' the Lions. That way, the person wishing to join, and the club, get to meet. They become acquainted! You know, like the words of the song: 'Getting To Know You'. Then, if they wish to join, they fill out an application form and have it presented to the 'membership committee' by a sponsoring Lion," outlined Dad.

"What is a sponsoring Lion?" asked Kit Sani.

"A Lion, who takes on the responsibility of 'looking after' the person wishing to join. They sort of show them what to do," replied Dad.

"What does the membership committee do?" asked Kit Al.

"They look after making sure the applicant understands what Lions are all about. They meet with the applicant and they talk together. When this is done, the membership committee can bring the application to the club meeting for approval. Or, maybe the applicant decides that being a Lion is not for him or her. So they decide not to apply. Or, maybe the club, for some reason, decides that a particular person would not be dedicated. If a person just wants to 'socialize', then, the Lions are not the right place."

"What happens when a person wants to be a Lion and the club accepts the application, what happens then?" asked Kit Heather.

"A special time is set aside at a regular meeting and the applicant is 'inducted' into the club in a nice ceremony," said Dad.

Cycling tips for the mature cyclist

by Walt Cromwell

Now is the ideal time to think cycles. Yes! I'm talking bikes. You have all had one at sometime or other in the past so why not start thinking about having one in your future? I'm not talking to those of you who still wear designer jeans and know all the words to the Nike Air commercials. I'm talking to those of you who know the "Belt Buckle - Bellybutton Blues" or can't remember how long ago you had your 40th birthday. I'm talking to those of you who have for years been carrying around that extra load called...responsibility! Cycling can lighten that load!

A few easy steps, then some brisk pedalling and you'll be free-wheeling in no time. The hardest step is the first one...one must make the concerted effort to start...a bike. One must have a bike. You can beg, borrow or steal one but buying one is still the preferred method. Interestingly, you can buy a new entry level bike from most sports stores or large department chains cheaper than an exercise cycle. Yes so many start off with the stationary bike which does just that...stays stationary and unused until dumped in the garage.

If buying a bike is not in the cards, then check your garage, your attic, your basement. If you have teenagers kids, there must be a bike laying around somewhere. Find it and dust it off and try it on for size. In a pinch one can get excellent value on a used bike at the opening of the yard sale season. All that is needed is the bike, a helmet and some determination. Be a risk taker! You will risk becoming fitter, you'll risk losing some unwanted pounds, you'll definitely risk becoming a puzzle to your kids. But its only fair, because kids have always been a puzzle to me. Parents. Kids have this idea that anyone over 30 is "old" but cycling offers a great opportunity to turn the tables on them. After having rediscovered the bicycle several years ago and having passed the half century in years, the payoff came when our daughter commented, "For parents over 50, you guys don't seem old, that's neat!" It was worth the effort.

So take a chance and ride a bike today! You will feel younger, you will think younger and therefore you'll be younger. Enjoy.

"What is the ceremony like?" asked Kit Al.

"The new Lion is required to declare that he/she is willing to follow the goals of the Lions. You know, service to the community, working together and meeting the obligations of membership. Their sponsor agrees to 'look after' the new Lion and to guide the new Lion during his/her first days in the Lions. At the end of the ceremony all the Lions shake hands with the new member and the new member receives a membership certificate, a Lions pin and a name plate. From then on, he/she has all the rights and privileges of the Lions!" said Dad.

"But suppose you don't know any Lions. How do you find out about the Lions Club?" asked Kit Heather worriedly.

"There are three Lions on the membership committee and they are as follows: The chairperson of the committee, Lion Frank and he can be reached at 478-5635, Lion Heather and she can be reached at 473-4910 and Lion Art and he can be reached at 473-2390. Humans, who are interested can call one of the three and ask about the Lions. This is a good way to begin," said Dad.

"Dad, are you sure a real lion can't join the Lions?" asked Kit Sani.

"Sorry dear, Lions Clubs are just for humans!"

Grade 6's Kings of the Medieval Castles

Mrs. Walther's Grade 6 at Madoc Public School formed teams and produced seven Medieval castles for their projects for the Invention Convention. The students are doing a unit on Medieval Times. They will be taking a trip to Casa Loma in Toronto, as part of that unit. Most of the students named their castles. The castles included features like draw bridges, catapults and dungeons to name a few. These features all had working parts. The students had to keep a journal entering their daily progress. They also had to provide a step by step process, along with sketches of what they wanted their castle to look like before they started building them.

Junior program starts Saturday

Senior Games, Charity Scramble launch golf action at Pine Ridge

The weather is finally warming up and so is the action at the Pine Ridge Golf and Country Club.

Senior golfers, eager to play after being held up throughout the month of April by cold, inclement conditions, will get their first tournament opportunity of the season Monday, May 27th. That's when Pine Ridge plays host to the Northernhamland Senior Games event.

About 60 participants have already signed up to play in the over 55 years of age competition but general manager Dick Burgess at Pine Ridge says the event is "open to everyone" and there's still room for entries.

Meanwhile, Pine Ridge is also planning its 2nd annual Executive Charity Scramble on Sunday, June 2nd with proceeds to the Venture Van, which serves the needs of people in Campbellford, Seymour, Warkworth, Percy and Hastings.

The $45 entry fee includes green fees, a meal and prizes. For those who prefer to attend the dinner only, the cost is $15.

The tourney features an A flight combining handicaps with teams restricted to a minimum handicap of 60, including only one under 10. The B flight players will be using the Calloway scoring system.

Calling All Juniors

Plans also call for an expanded junior program this year at Pine Ridge, starting this Saturday afternoon, leading to the area's popular mini-tour for young golfers in four different age categories - junior, juvenile, bantam and novice.

Not only will there be a weekly group instruction session for the kids but the program also consists of sit-down sessions to go over rules and course etiquette. This year two experienced Brighton golfers, Don Roy and Bob Simpson, have volunteered their services on behalf of the junior program and mini-tour organization.

"All youngsters are welcome to get involved," says Burgess. "We invite the parents to bring their sons and daughters out to the first session without any obligation to find out what the program is all about. It's a wonderful opportunity for youngsters to learn the game and have something to do to occupy their time during the summer months."

As a fund-raising initiative this year, the juniors will also be available at the club as caddies and to offer a club cleaning service for both members and greens fee players.

Also coming up in June at Pine Ridge are three other tournaments: On June 8th, the MPP Doug Galt Golf Day, a best-ball scramble, is scheduled. The annual CNIB tournament, a four-person Calloway team event, is on tap June 16th while the Warkworth Institution Children's Wish Foundation tourney will be centre stage June 21st.

Leading the way for the knights were veterans Jackie Galica, Charlie Drummond and Terry Brett who all returned to Norwood with first place ribbons and more.

Jackie scooped up a first in the senior 400 metres (3.4) then added a second

Petroglyphs Park offers great hiking and wildlife

Spring has arrived at Petroglyphs Provincial Park at Woodview, near Bancroft.

Round-lobed hepatica, white trilliums and fringed polygala are some of the wildflowers which herald the beginning of another park season.

Wildflowers are not the only things to see. White-tailed deer, beaver and great blue heron are just a few examples of the wildlife that may be seen along the park's four hiking trails. A new boardwalk and viewing platform overlooks a marsh on the Nanabush trail and scenic waterfalls await hikers at the end of the High Falls trail. Trails vary in length from 3 to 13 kms.

The park is known for its many petroglyphs (rock carvings) made 600-1,100 years ago by Algonkian speaking natives. A unique protective building preserved these thought-provoking images and knowledgeable staff are available to provide information.

"HELP SUPPORT THIS VALUABLE COMMUNITY RESOURCE"

More Aabled Than Disabled

by Barbara Bruce-Pealow

Disabled youngsters to present "Anne of Green Gables"

A group of teens with disabilities will stage a production of Anne of Green Gables on June 10, 1996 at The Ford Centre for the Performing Arts in Toronto. Called Celebration! The event will raise funds for the newly-amalgamated Bloorview MacMillan Centre. Bloorview MacMillan serves over 6,000 children and young adults with disabilities and complex medical conditions each year.

Andrea Pacheco, age 13, is playing Anne. "I think Anne is a lot like me," says Andrea with a grin. "She is stubborn, fun, and she leads everyone in a merry dance!"

Actor Don Harron (a.k.a. Charlie Farquharson) is the genius behind the event. "I have worked with this organization for over 20 years," notes Don. "The attitude and outlook of these kids constantly amazes me. It strengthens me, actually. I wanted to put on a really big show to help them raise money." Don has adapted the original script of the musical Anne of Green Gables for the event.

To round out the gala evening, Don has also written Stan of Green Bagels, a hilarious spoof on Anne which will be performed by celebrities Al Waxman, Harvey Atkin, Billy Van and others. The event's third ski. The 200th Anniversary of Yonge Street, will include prominent local officials and business people such as Lt. Gov. Henry Jackman, former premier Bob Rae, North York Mayor Mel Lastman and his wife Marilyn, Paul Godfrey and Marvin Starr. A "Mingle with the Stars" reception will follow the performances.

Asked why he chose Anne for the fund raiser, Don explained, "It's about a little girl who has all the odds against her and wins. These kids really identify with her and they are just blossoming on the stage. On June 10th I know we're all going to see just how much kids with disabilities can do."

Tickets for Celebration! are $150 each. To order call (416) 424-3809.

Facts about Bloorview MacMillan centre

Bloorview MacMillan Centre was formed on January 1, 1996 when Bloorview Children's Hospital and The Hugh MacMillan Rehabilitation Centre merged.

Bloorview MacMillan Centre serves children and young adults from across Ontario who have disabilities or complex medical conditions. We are dedicated to high-quality, family-centred service, education and research that helps young people achieve their goals.

Bloorview MacMillan Centre was created on January 1, 1996 by the merger of Bloorview Children's Hospital and The Hugh MacMillan Rehabilitation Centre. Both organizations recognized that by combining their resources and expertise in specialized paediatric services, they could form an international "Centre of Excellence" and dramatically improve their ability to make a difference in young people's lives.

What they do:

Babies born without limbs reach for their first toys and take their first steps with specially designed prostheses. Teens learn to walk, talk and take part in life again after a traumatic accident causing coma and brain injury. Children who can't use their voice speak freely with friends - conversing with the help of modern technology. Young adults learn to live independently through life skills training programs.

Who They Serve:

Each year, Bloorview MacMillan Centre serves more than 6,000 children and young adults who have: an amputation, arthritis, cerebral palsy, cleft lip and palate, epilepsy, a head injury, kidney failure, muscular, spina bifida, a spinal cord disorder or a chronic illness that requires special treatment.

Almost 50% of the young people assisted by Bloorview MacMillan live outside Metropolitan Toronto.

Kent wrestlers mop up in 16th annual tourney

Kent Public School, with the largest number of wrestlers competing, swept to victory in the 16th annual Public School wrestling tournament staged last Thursday at the Campbellford District High School gym.

Named as the outstanding wrestler overall was David Fischer of Kent.

Overall in team competition, Kent amassed a total of 162 points while St. Mary's had 92 points and Hillcrest placed third with 46.

Kent, with 25 boys taking part, piled up 134 points and crowned seven individual champions. St. Mary's, with 13 wrestlers participating, had 76 points, including three individual winners while Hillcrest's only male competitor, Scott McKelvie, won his division.

In girls' competition, Hillcrest captured top honours with 36 points, followed by Kent with 28 and St. Mary's with 16.

The individual winners in boys' competition in the various categories were Andrew Preston, Christian Gratton, David Fischer, Jeff Naeghi, Matt Preston, John Berkens and Josh Cork. St. Mary's individual winners were Ryan Singh and Brian Murphy.

Beth Keene, Kathrine McClure and Joanna Petherick emerged with individual titles for Hillcrest in the girls' division. Samantha Dunkley of Kent and Valene Mercier of St.

Mary's also captured first-place honours.

Young wrestlers at CDHS served as coaches for the three teams. Tyler Fischer coached the winning Kent squad while Jeff for St. Mary's. Ben McClure and Greg Finlay were the Hillcrest coaches.

Langford, Natalie Cusimaz-Brown and Chad Vale combined as coaches.

Percy Boom River Rats busy bingo bowling and fishing

The Percy Boom River Rats' bowling bingo was a huge success with all alleys taken up for the annual fun night of bowling.

There were more laughs enjoyed than serious bowling with prizes awarded to the top male and female individual bowlers for each game and also the low man and lady. The night was topped off with a delicious buffet.

Meanwhile, even though the weatherman failed to cooperate for the annual Fish Derby May 11th, it didn't seem to bother most of the ardent anglers. The pickerel did not like the weather as none in the group caught anything but pike. Many were caught and ended up in the fryer at the end of the day.

The problem saddle

Do I still have readers after last week? I know there are some people who have found they are following in my footsteps, and in the steps of many before me, in respect to owning a saddle that isn't quite the "perfect" fit.

I would like to thank everyone who called me, expressing their interest in my column in addition to their impatience in waiting for this one. That tells me there is a saddle problem out there, and several people who want to do something about it now.

I also had a few calls regarding a trail ride, but the majority of people seem to be busy during the spring hours; so, if I have taken down your name and number, I won't forget about you, I promise.

Now, about those saddles. First, I must tell you I am far from being the pro I would like to be, and my expertise has come through personal experience. However, I am sure the advice passed along to me will also work for you; so, if you are

Just in time for spring!

Rhubarb Bread Pudding

1-1/2 cups milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
4 slices toast, cubed
1 cub sliced rhubarb
1 cup sugar
Scald milk; add eggs and mix well. Add other ingredients, pour into buttered 1-1/2 quart casserole. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour or until custard sets. Makes four servings. Enjoy.

Chow, see you next week.

in the denial stage, get out of it -- and everyone else; let's give it a try. At least do it for your horse's sake... please.

As I'm sure you have figured out on your own, just about every breed of horse has a different conformation, size and weight category. Therefore, it stands to reason that there are hundreds, if not thousands, of different shapes.

However, sadly enough, there are very few sizes available in saddle trees. How did you pick up yours? Did you buy it because it matched your horse? Was the price right? Or maybe you envisioned your horse with that particular design and were sold right then and there? How many people took the saddle home first and tried it on their horse before buying it? Anyway, that no longer matters -- let's see if we can fix the problem, if indeed there is one.

Step 1: Break out the baby powder, a good brush, your best friend and your horse, and head for the barn. Don't forget to bring your saddle along. Leave the blanket or pad where it is. We are fitting your saddle. Brush your horse thoroughly in the saddle area. Next, sprinkle this top area with the powder. Make sure you don't skimp. Get it on there.

Now, standing on a pail, chair, fence or your friend, place your saddle on the horse's back, taking care to not just throw it on or brush against any area that has been powdered. Do it up just tight enough to say, you did, and then just place yourself on top.

This is where your friend comes in. Do not pull the

Trent River Cenotaph goal is $3,100

Letter To The Editor

We are halfway there but anyone wishing to make a donation towards the Trent River Cenotaph goal of $3,100 can drop it off at the Trent River General Store or at the Seymour Township office. Please make cheques payable to the Trent River Cenotaph.

Here is just a little history of the cenotaph:

Everyone who grew up in the Trent River area has fond memories. They were known as the Trent River Rats. Swimming, dancing, baseball games, boat races are part of their youth they have not forgotten.

The cenotaph went into such a state of disrepair that the Trent River Women's Institute took it upon themselves to pick up the torch so as the cenotaph could be ready for the 65th anniversary, 1988.

Everyone gave so freely of their time and money and contributed to a successful outcome.

The gate was repaired. The corner balls were replaced, using old pictures given to Marjorie Jeffrey, eastern restoration of Peterborough. There was no doubt that Eldon Hartwig was the man to do the job and it's only fitting that we ask him back to carry on with the same quality of work that was done in 1988.

Since his work was completed, lights were installed, a plaque of rededication was added to honour all those who served their country in World War One, World War Two and the Korean War.

Also a special plaque was installed on the cenotaph by the Local Architectural Conservation/Advisory Committee (LACAC) thanks to chairman Jack Connor.

This is a little different than the normal heritage designation under the Ontario Heritage Act. The monument is on federal property so this is just a recognition by the township that it is a historic site. This ensures any future renovations would be brought to the attention of the township.

May I say again, your donations will be most welcomed and please let us not allow the Trent River Cenotaph to fall back into such a state of disrepair again as it was in 1988.

Marjorie Jeffrey,
Trent River.

Knowing Your Golf Clubs!

By Garry Alex
Professional clubmaker

Meaning of shaft flex

Two characteristics of the golf shaft affect ball trajectory.

The first is the relative stiffness or flex of the shaft, and the second is the flex point of the shaft.

Most golfers are aware that the golf shaft flexes during the swing. A number of things happen to the club because of this shaft flexing.

First of all, the face tends to close. Next, the loft tends to increase. Third, the line angle is flattened; and, finally, the club shortens. How much all this occurs is dependent on a number of other factors such as the shaft flexibility, the club length, the weight and size of the head, how fast the club is swung, etc.

Many articles have stated that a properly flexed shaft for an individual will be straight or in line with the head of the club just before impact. This is incorrect. The shaft is in fact bowed forward with the clubhead leading it just before impact.

During impact, the tremendous force of the ball at rest being put into motion slows the clubhead down so that it comes back in line with the shaft during impact; and as the ball just begins to leave the face, the clubhead is actually lagging behind the shaft. This all occurs in less than 5/10,000ths of a second and one inch of clubhead travel.

Because the clubhead is bowed ahead of the shaft at impact, the dynamic loft or impact loft is increased.

Assuming the only variable in all three illustrated clubs is shaft flex with swing speed remaining constant, we can see that the more flexible the shaft the higher the trajectory.

Now let's take a look at how the shaft flex point can affect dynamic loft and ball trajectory. The flex point of the shaft refers to how and where maximum bending occurs in the shaft during the swing.

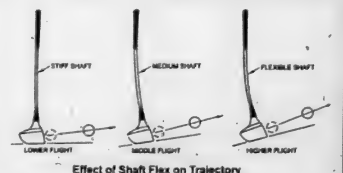

Assume that we have three shafts all with the same flex or in this example, all stiff flex, but one shaft is tip stiff and butt weak, another shaft is tip weak and butt stiff and the third in between the first two or a shaft with a mid-flex point.

Even though all three shafts are the same relative stiffness, the tip weak shaft will hit the ball slightly higher than the tip stiff shaft with the third being in between. The reason for this is that a tip weak shaft will have more kick or increased dynamic loft at impact than a shaft that bends higher up the shaft.

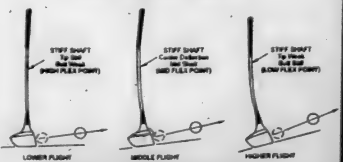

A professional clubmaker can help you select the correct shaft flex and flex point for your swing.

Next: Clubhead length, distance and accuracy.

(This is another in a series of articles designed to educate golfers on the technical aspects of golf equipment and how they affect their golf games. Mr. Alex operates a golf shop on Highway 30 just outside Campbellford, specializing in component clubmaking.)

The problem saddle

saddle to one side or shift it in any way. Have your friend lead you around, 15-20 steps, and then dismount in the same fashion.

Step 2: This is it: the Moment of all Truths. Your friend is there to lend moral support if you need it. Standing on the chair, etc., lift your saddle straight into the air and remove it.

What you will see is powder that has been crushed or scrunched in certain areas, and not in others. The crushed areas indicate the places where your saddle is touching, and the freshly powdered look means these areas are not receiving any of your weight.

A good displacement average is one-and-one-half pounds of your body weight per square inch. It would also be beneficial if your friend was good enough at math to calculate the used areas, to see just how much of the saddle tree is being used. It will also show whether your saddle's weight, in addition to your own, is resting on the shoulders and pinching, etc. It seems the majority of saddles rest on the shoulders and the end of the horse's back without any contact down the middle. (Don't forget to check the withers.)

Step 3: Don't let anyone tell you to fix it with another pad. If your shoes are too big, another pair of socks isn't going to fix the problem. In the case of the saddle, it only lifts the problem. So, using a piece of chalk or a pencil, try to mark the places on your saddle that aren't touching.

You might start by feeling the tree with your fingers and outlining that first. Every other piece of saddle under there is for looks and design only. This has absolutely no effect on your weight disbursement.

Step 4: Now, using a ruler, your imagination and creative abilities, transfer the "it doesn't touch" area onto a piece of newspaper. Cut it out, and you now have the solution to your problem.

Take this to a saddle maker or leather repair shop. This may take a couple of tries to get the right thickness. Ask them to cut you a piece in the shape of your design. If your saddle isn't fitting your horse in very many places, you may want to start with a thicker piece, or maybe glue a couple of pieces together. (Make sure you use a good strong glue so they don't shift.)

Remember, the object of this activity is to fill in the space. You want your saddle to sit on your horse's back, everywhere.

Step 5: Once you have tried this exercise a couple of times and are now sure the leather is the right thickness, have the person insert it into your saddle. But remember, you don't want any more pressure points, so ensure the insert is shaved around the edges so it gradually fits into the tree. (Thin to thick.)

Step 6: Congratulate yourself. You have just proven your devotion to your horse, and I promise you will see a big difference. But remember that it may take a few rides for this to become evident. Your horse only remembers pain, and has pretty much become accustomed to it if you have been using your saddle for a while.

It may take some time for him to realize it doesn't hurt anyone. And -- don't forget a gift for your friend, who helped you through it all. If you have any questions regarding this, please call me at (613) 472-5643. If I'm not in, I will get back to you.

OPP Report

Quinte OPP were investigating a break-in at the Root Cellar Convenience

Store in Thomasburg at 1:12 a.m. on May 16, when the alarm sounded at the Thomasburg Village Market, just down the road. Police responded to the alarm and just missed the thieves by seconds. The culprits managed to make off with some lottery tickets and 15 cartons of cigarettes. The items stolen from the Root Cellar included a quantity of candy bars and pop. Both matters are still under investigation.

Quinte OPP Const. David Craig stated that stores in the area have been the target of numerous thefts over last few months. He added that the thefts are minor in nature with regards to the items stolen, but are very costly to businesses because of windows being broken to gain entry. Police are asking the public for assistance in these cases.

A break, enter and theft occurred at a Rawdon Township home on May 15. Police report that $11,500 worth of property was stolen including, a Yamaha ATV and a personal computer. Entry was gained to the residence through the garage.

Madoc OPP arrested an impaired driver in Tweed on May 16 at 3 a.m. He was charged with breach of an undertaking and refusing a breath sample, and is being held in custody for a bail hearing. Police stopped the vehicle on Victoria Street, near the Tweed/Hungerford municipal offices.

In the early morning of May 17 a 17-year-old male was turned over to police after an incident at the Tweed Co-op. According to police a Tweed Village firefighter who was directing traffic in the area of the house fire noticed two persons go behind the Tweed Co-op. He directed the by-law enforcement officer to check out the situation and when he reached the back of the co-op found one person in the enclosure who had thrown six plastic chairs over the fence. This person fled, but another person hiding in grass nearby was apprehended and turned over to police.

Fatal fire kills three in Tweed

Tweed: Three Tweed residents are dead as a result of a house fire in Tweed late last Thursday night. Local firefighters extinguished a fire at 412 Victoria St. North, Tweed and discovered the remains at approximately 1 a.m. on May 17th.

OPP were called to the scene and are presently investigating the circumstances along with a Fire Marshall's Office and the Coroner.

Three bodies were removed to Belleville General Hospital where they have been identified.

They are 42 year old Douglas Rolphe, his wife 37 year old Helen Rolphe and their 11 year old son, David Rolphe.

The cause of the fire has not yet been positively determined. However, forensic reports on Friday have ruled out any cause of the building itself, said owner Diane Fobert. The building's north side was completely destroyed. The duplex, built at the turn of the century, was bought by Diane and Clarence Fobert in January of 1994 had been completely renovated inside with new wiring and furnace.

"They just moved in May and they were my best tenants yet. They were a lovely family and this is such a tragedy," said Diane Fobert sadly. "They were both members of the dart league at the Tweed Legion and well liked by everyone."

Douglas Rolphe worked at Deloro Stellite Inc. and the family have spent a couple of years in Tweed. Before that, they resided in Belleville. There is one surviving son, who had spent the night with friends in Belleville.

School children and friends of the family have placed flowers on the lawn where the family resided.

Four local municipalities discussing garbage user fees

by Jeff Wilson

The four municipalities that share the Madoc landfill site are discussing a proposal that would see user fees introduced for garbage collection.

The proposal was discussed between representatives from Madoc Village, Madoc Township, Huntingdon and Elzevir and Grimsithe Townships during a landfill committee meeting held on May 15.

In an interview, Village Reeve Tom Deline said that the municipalities discussed instituting a fee structure whereby residents would receive 52 free garbage bag tags, which represents one free bag a week. Any additional tags could be purchased for $1 each. People taking bags to the landfill without a bag tag would be charged $2 per bag, under the proposal. The new system could be implemented by January 1997. The next landfill committee will be held on June 18 to further discuss the proposal.

Deline said that the four municipalities need to get in line with neighboring municipalities which have already instituted user fees for garbage collection.

"Instead of getting 10 years out of this site out here, if we could get 15 or 20 that in my opinion saves our taxpayers a lot of money over having to have it picked up and transported (by a private contractor)," he said.

From his viewpoint, Deline said he didn't any support, from any of the four municipalities, to go ahead with a full user pay system at this time.

Kramp to hold volleyball camps in local area

by Jeff Wilson

Kari Kramp of Madoc and a former standout volleyball player at Centre Hastings Secondary School is planning to offer volleyball camps in the area from the last week in June until the end of July.

In an interview, Kari said each camp will be one week long and will be held at a local school. In an effort to offer one-on-one training Kari is restricting the camp size to 12 players. Kari currently attends Virginia Commonwealth where she will be a starting senior next season.

Along with herself, Kari said she will have some guest coaches assisting her along the way, including CHSS senior girls volleyball coach Nancy Watson.

The camp is open to boys and girls from Grades 6 to 12.

Kari said she decided to start the volleyball camp to provide an affordable alternative to the Madawaska camp which is quite expensive, as well as trying to keep up the skill level of local players. The fee for the one-week camp will be $100.

Kari said she is willing to hold a camp in area towns including Madoc, Marmora, Stirling or Tweed, as long as

Madoc Stinger Squirts begin season

The Madoc Stingers (Squirts) started the season on Wednesday, May 22, when they travelled to Trenton. It was a real pitchers' duel with Madoc coming out on top by a 7-3 score.

The Squirts' next home game is Thursday, May 30 at 6:30 p.m. when they host Frankford. Way to go boys!

Ap procession of seven local fire departments, which included approximately 50 firefighters paraded to the Catholic Church in Madoc for the funeral service of fellow firefighter Garry Rivers of Madoc Township, last Saturday.

CHSS earns two COSSA championships

On May 22, the boys rugby teams travelled to Trenton to play against THS. The results were a loss for the juniors, and a 10-7 victory for the seniors. Also, the Bay of Quinte finals for rugby were played

May 24. The CHSS Track and Field team competed at the COSSA championship in Peterborough on May 23. The outcomes of the day were two COSSA championships, won by Wayne Sexton and Michelle Coens in the 100m and high jump events. Mike and Pat Foran, Justin Spencer, Justin McArthur and Shelby Kramp all qualified in two of their events.

The following students won one event each: D.J. Burshaw, Jason Beattie, Scott Richardson and Tracey Rodgers.

All of these athletes will compete at regionals this week. Well done team, and good luck.

In business news, there will be a fundraising yard sale on May 31. The sale will run from 5 to 9 p.m. at the front of the school. For further information contact Mrs. Ostman or Mrs. Berry.

The Company of Sirens came to perform at CHSS on May 22. This group put on a dramatic production, discussing date rape and sexual assault.

New Business

The Madoc division of the Root Cellar recently opened up shop beside the car wash, just south of the village. The new business offers annuals, perennials and shrubs. Most of these flowers are housed in the custom built greenhouse, which is 90 feet long. The original Root Cellar is located in Thomasburg.

Way Back When...

This postcard photo was provided by Vera Burnside and is of the Eldorado main street around 1916, showing the three stores. The dark store on the right was operated by James Deremo and later Fred Vandervoort. The big white store beside it was built in 1915 by E.A. Sirebe. The store across the road was erected by G.R. Jones. The house to the north has been used as a post office for many years.

Township School Gameraama

Madoc Township Public School students participated in a Gameraama competition, which was organized by some Centre Hastings Secondary School students, last Friday morning. (left photo) The students tried to get the water filled balloon over the net on their opponents' side, using a blanket. (right photo) These students were participating in an event called "Dress the Farmer", the object was to dress and undress a teammate in farmer's clothes before their opponent.

Cooper and Remington Women's Institute

Cooper and Remington's Women's Institute opened the meeting with the "Institute Ode" and "Marty Stewart Collect". The roll call (Tell a funny joke or pay a 25 cent fine) was answered by 14 members. The guest speaker was Gerald Reid. Mr. Reid is the Madoc Township Reeve. Due to the government cutbacks his news was not encouraging. The pay per bag garbage is to be instituted. Our roads will be covered with pulp wood liquor from Domtar ASAP. The fire department will be around to put numbers on each house soon. It will help police, ambulance and fire to locate you quicker. The 9-1-1 may not come into effect until 1998. We had quite a bit of business to take care of. We have five members that have been in the Institute for 25+ years. Jean Bailey presented the 25 year pins to Ethel Stein, Pauline Dudgeon, Doris Rollins, Margarette Stire and Lorraine Trotter. Pauline Dudgeon celebrated her 80th birthday. We will be having our Community Yard Sale on May 25. Larry Greer will be cooking at our June meeting. We closed that meeting with O'Canada.

How did your weekend go?

It looks like summer has finally arrived! How did you spend your long weekend? I know about two organized rides that were held, and both were a hit.

Freedom Farms held their first organized ride of the year. According to the "Marmora Gang", between the great weather, awesome food, and lots of friends, it couldn't have been better. The next organized ride will be held at the Ganasaka Forest, on Highway 115, Aug. 9-11.

The ride I attended was organized by the Ontario Competitive Trail Riders Association (OCTRA). It also was a fantastic ride.

This particular ride was very close to being cancelled, since the usual organizers either moved or weren't able to accept the large challenge this year. However, thanks to Larry and Helen McMasters, who agreed to co-ordinate it, the ride went ahead.

I would like to thank those people for all the work they put into this weekend; the endless hours of pre-stress from last minute sign up (like myself), complaints from the "peanut gallery", and for the lost sleep. Diane Moore came from London, Ontario, three days early to mark the trail -- and she couldn't have done a better job.

If you are able to get out and ride these trails, don't miss the opportunity. Take your tent and spend the weekend. The best part is there are very few bugs; the majority of the area is sand and trees, so they don't have any where to hatch.

Even if you're not able to attend a ride this time, please remember, in the future, to thank the organizers. Keep in mind these people give up several days, if not weeks, of their summer so you can have a good time.

Most people are doing it out of the generosity of their own heart. So if something doesn't go just right, forget it. Talk about the things that did go right. Appreciate these people for what they did for you. Keep in mind as well, if it wasn't for these generous, devoted and dedicated horse people you may have been left cutting grass that particular day!

Rick Hansen Stimulated Access Awareness Movement

Sometimes people ask Rick Hansen, "If you had the chance to go back and live your life over again, knowing what you know now, if you had to give up what you've lived in the last 20 years and not get into that truck and could have the use of your legs, what would you do?"

His reply? "I'd get into that truck in an instant, in a heartbeat, because I wouldn't trade my life and the richness I've been able to pull from it for the use of my legs."

There is no hesitation or trace of doubt in Rick's reply. His life experiences have supplied him with a great deal of food for thought. And he has obviously devoted time and energy to making sense of his remarkable life. He suggested that, although life must be lived forwards, it can only be understood backwards.

Rick's accident occurred on a hot summer's night in June 1973. Rick, then 16, and his buddy were bouncing along a gravel road in the back of a pick-up they had hitched a ride on after a weekend of fishing. The driver lost control. Rick landed on a toolbox that was thrown out of the pick-up with him and, instantly, he became a paraplegic.

His achievement is legendary. In 1987, he completed his wheelchair marathon of 24,901.55 miles in 19 months through 34 countries, raising over 23 million dollars for the Legacy Trust Fund. From then on came National Access Awareness Week, May 29 to June 4, to raise awareness, work for people with disabilities with highly visible initiatives such as Independence '92 and profile activities such as volunteering his time to visit schools and kids in rehabs.

So, come on down and join us and be part of the action with the National Access Awareness Day, Wednesday, June 19th, starting at 10:30 a.m. at the Campbellford Library, 98 Bridge Street E.

For further information, call Doreen Sharpe, 653-4066, or Barb Volkenburg, 653-1534. Come on out, if Rick can do it, so can you.

Knowing Your Golf Clubs!

By Garry Alex
Professional clubmaker

Grip size is important

A properly sized grip should give the golfer a comfortable feeling at address, and positive control during the swing but should not inhibit or over-promote his wrist action as the clubhead moves into the impact zone.

A grip which is too large for a particular golfer could do the following:

- * Decrease clubhead feel;
- * Inhibit wrist action by not allowing the golfer's wrists to roll properly before impact causing the ball to be pushed to the right;
- * Cause the golfer to "choke" down on the grip where it is smaller in diameter and thus feels better. This reduces swing speed by effectively shortening the club.

A grip which is too small for a particular golfer could do the following:

- * The clubhead may twist at impact because the golfer cannot get a firm hold on the club;
- * The golfer may squeeze too tightly to "hold on" to the club, thus inhibiting his

Understanding the future...

Dairy industry changes reflected in annual report

cussed and negotiated. Both these new agreements are the result of adapting to the new trade rules.

Our goal is to maintain supply management for as long as possible while the world moves relentlessly towards a marketplace without tariff protection.

It will be imperative in future trade negotiations that other countries eliminate their internal subsidies that distort the marketplace.

We require a long phase-out period to make sure this is accomplished. It must be emphasized that, if the international community changes direction in trade liberalization at any time we will change our strategy, but that is not evident at this time.

The importance of winning the NAFTA panel challenge called by the US cannot be over-emphasized. We are confident that Canada has the legal right under the NAFTA to implement our GATT-negotiated tariffs. It's time for the US to live by the trade rules they agreed to, not the trade rules they wish they had negotiated.

Dairy Farmers of Ontario intends to provide the types of services and policies that will allow our producers to adapt to the changes ahead of us.

No matter the policy environment in the future, dairy producers of our province will need a strong dairy marketing organization. We intend to be that organization, and have demonstrated that resolve in the many negotiations in which we have been involved this year.

I hope you share our pride in the progress of Dairy Farmers of Ontario in the past year. Our staff have done a admirable job in helping us meet our objectives and our alliances with industry partners have been very positive. We are meeting the challenges.

Editor's note:

In honour of June being Dairy Month, Cembal Publications is pleased to provide this special section designed especially for dairy farmers. We wish to extend a special thanks to Norm, Lois, Danny and Mark Lovshin, of Cobourg for allowing us to photograph their farm during an open house held in April.

Milk delivery a dangerous business

Editor's note: The following was submitted by Gerald Belanger, who regularly scans old Marmora Herald's for interesting stories. Thanks, Gerald for this piece about Thomas Hannah and his milk delivering adventures. It appears in honour of Dairy Month.

Before the days of self-serv plastic milk bags and jugs now available at most convenience stores in Marmora, milk was hand carried to the front door of your home in glass pint or quart bottles.

The following articles are intended for adults over the age of 50:

"Thomas Hannah's horse-pulled milk wagon upset on the road between Bonarlaw and Marmora this morning, owing to ice. Most of his milk bottles were broken and the milk lost." -- Jan. 28, 1932, page 5

"Thomas Hannah met with an unfortunate accident while delivering milk on Sunday evening. The wagon upset a little north of the Herald office. Mr. Hannah was thrown out on the road and rendered unconscious. The glass in the window of the wagon was broken and the rear door partially torn from its hinges. Mr. Hannah was given medical attention and removed to his home and

Mr. Prentice helped deliver the milk for him." -- Aug. 15, 1940, page 1

"Thomas Hannah had the misfortune to have his milk delivery sleigh hit by a car which frightened the horse so badly that it ran away, going through the main part of the Village. Several cars along the street were slightly damaged and a number of milk bottles shattered. The horse landed up in the Hannah yard." -- Feb. 5, 1942, page 5

"Thomas Hannah's milk wagon was struck by an automobile and almost completely destroyed. The horse and wagon were standing still on the west side of Forsythe Street while Mr. Hannah was delivering milk to a customer when the accident occurred. There was about 115 quarts of milk spilled and half of the bottles were broken." April 8, 1943, page 1

"Kenneth Regan has been lying unconscious in the Belleville hospital since (having) been hit by a car. He was making the rounds with the Neal boys, delivering milk, and on Main Street, is reported to have jumped off the milk wagon and run in front of a car. The many friends of Mr. & Mrs. Regan and family are hoping for a complete recovery." -- June 29, 1939, page 5

Pastures main source of summer feed

Pastures remain the main source of summer feed for a high percentage of Ontario cattle, as in many parts of the world. To be productive, pasture species require moisture, sunlight, and an adequate supply of nutrients.

In many cases, farmers pay little attention to the nutritional needs of their pasture land. The major soil nutrients required are similar to other crops -- nitrogen, phosphorus and potash.

Phosphorous and potash levels can be determined by soil tests. There is no suitable nitrogen test. Nitrogen is often the limiting factor where grasses are the major pasture species.

Over time, most pastures revert to lower-producing grass species and weeds. These types of pastures should be renovated, where possible, with the introduction of legumes capable of generating their own nitrogen requirements.

Generally, pastures which are at least half legume -- alfalfa, trefoil and clover -- don't require nitrogen. Where the content of legumes is less than 50 per cent, renovation or nitrogen application will dramatically increase the yield.

The most direct way to increase production is to apply the equivalent of 45 pounds to the acre of actual nitrogen. One hundred pounds per acre of urea in early spring would add about 45 pounds of actual nitrogen. Application should be less than 75 pounds to the acre to reduce any chance of nitrate poisoning.

Many farmers would like to introduce new grass species while keeping the existing stand. To be effective, this requires some control over existing vegetation.

This may be accomplished by severe grazing and, for best results, follow with no-till drill to get good seed-to-soil contact. Early spring is the best time for this process.

Early frost seeding of clovers or trefoil can be successful if applied over a period of time if there is control over existing grass. Where drought is a persistent problem, some species, like orchard grass and wheat canary grass are more tolerant of certain legumes.

Whichever system you use to renovate your pasture, good management is required to keep the species productive and maintain the stand.

Double Cropping with ROUNDUP®

ROUNDUP® herbicide applied PREHARVEST to forages this spring allows you to harvest your first cut of hay, then plant corn or soybeans. You eliminate the need to wait for regrowth after haying by applying Roundup Preharvest. And then you can take advantage of the high commodity prices this year.

See your dealer for details about applying ROUNDUP PREHARVEST to forages.

There's Only One ...

Roundup is a registered trademark of Monsanto Company, Monsanto Canada Inc. licensee. Always read and follow label directions.

They'll do anything but make it stop raining.

The AGCO Allis 4600 Series offers more versatility, more features, and less maintenance. Go from field work to haying, and save-time and operating costs to boot. Because the 4600's are the most advanced chore tractors in farming today. At 40 and 52 PTO hp, they have state-of-the-art features like synchronized transmissions, all-wheel drive, wet disc brakes, and convenient controls that add to your productivity. The advanced air-cooled diesel eliminates 40% of the parts that cause engine downtime, for longer life, hassle-free maintenance and lower operating costs. And the 4600's are backed by a strong AGCO warranty - four years or 4,000 hours as standard. See your local AGCO Allis dealer today, and ask about flexible Agrifinancing.

Interesting dairy facts and figures

How important is the dairy industry to the Ontario and Canadian economies?

> Ontario's 8300 family dairy farms last year produced 2.3 billion litres of milk worth $1.3 billion dollars at the farm gate. Dairy farming is Ontario's number one agricultural commodity.

> Canada's 26,000 dairy farms each year produce 7.3 billion litres of milk worth $3.5 billion to farmers. Canadian milk quality is second to none.

> In Canada, dairy farmers under "supply-managed marketing boards" support $9 billion in economic activity and 125,000 jobs.

Are dairy farmers competitive?

> At the farm, the price of milk has only risen one-third as much as the Consumer Price Index in the last 10 years. Milk prices have increased only one per cent per year for the last six years;

> Dairy farmers receive 13 cents for a glass of two per cent milk;

> Dairy farm families on average earn below the average industrial wage for a job that requires they be on duty seven days a week, 365 days a year.

> There are 42 per cent fewer dairy farms in Ontario than there were 15 years ago, but they still produce the same amount of milk;

> The average production has risen 75 per cent in the last 15 years. These efficiency gains are as good as our American counterparts;

> Canadian cows are so productive, they are in high demand throughout the world. Even though Canada has only 0.5 per cent of the world's dairy cows, we enjoy 40 per cent of the genetic export market. That's worth about $85 million to Canadian exporters each year.

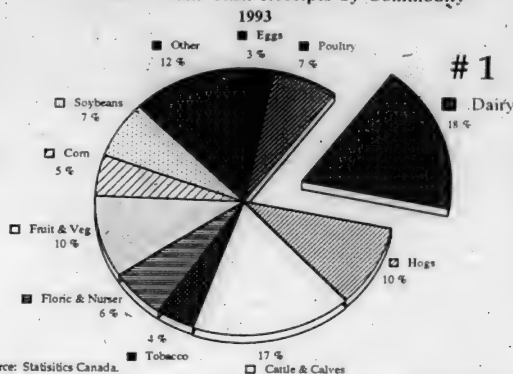

Aren't food prices too high in Canada?

> According to regular surveys carried out by the Food Marketing Institute of Washington, D.C., Canadians enjoy among the lowest food costs in the world, spending just 14.2 per cent of their paycheques for food, compared to 14.6 per cent for Americans and 32.6 for the Japanese;

June Dairy Month Special

Proper care essential... During a tour of the Lovshin farm, visitors were educated on the importance of proper care for the cattle. The best care for animals provides for the best milk; a concept not lost on the Lovshin's who have several Milk Quality Certificate to their credit.

Dairy "open house" provides hands-on education

by Nancy Powers

For Norm and Lois Lovshin, hosting a dairy "open house" was just one more way of celebrating 35 years of operation on their 175 acre farm between Cobourg and Port Hope. Nearly 400 visitors experienced some of the day-to-day activities of farm life on a modern dairy operation. They were treated first-hand to some of the sites, sounds, and activities which are part of the every-day process on an active farm.

Norm and Lois, along with sons Danny and Mark, were quite willing to give guided tours of the farm. Daily feeding of the 105 head has been made easier with an automated food cart named "Freddy."

The younger crowd, who braved the rainy elements on April 13, were treated to various demonstrations including care, management and milking. Feeding formulations and milking procedures were discussed in detail. A cheese demonstration was also provided by Don Pollock.

County Dairy Educator Nancy Glower was on hand to answer questions, and displays included the Ag Awareness "Field to Food" promotion, as well as one on "Safety on the Farm."

The Lovshin dairy farm is one of approximately 180 dairy operations in Northumberland. Their herd is recognized as one of the top Holstein production herds in Ontario, and, for many years, has been one of the top herds in the County.

They have 15 milk quality awards to their credit.

Sponsored by the County Milk Producers and the Ag Awareness Committee, the yearly open house is intended to promote a better understanding of living "down on the farm" for non-farmers and urbanites.

DFO reports marketing increase

Dairy Farmers of Ontario (DFO) reported marketings of 2.361 billion litres of milk for the fiscal year ending Oct. 31, 1995. The figure, released with the presentation of DFO's Annual Report at its 30th Annual Meeting in Toronto, represents an increase of 46 million litres, or 2.0 per cent, from previous year.

For this milk, DFO billed processors $1.3 billion. The organization retained $51.5 million for milk transportation, $8.8 million for administration of the marketing system, $29.8 million for market expansion and about $118,000 to support the Dairy Science Research Chair.

In addition, DFO collected from producers, on behalf of the federal government, $40.6 million in levies to cover the costs of exporting surplus skim milk powder and $18.6 million to cover the export of surplus product. The organization also collected $1.4 million for the Ontario Dairy Herd Improvement Corporation in support of milk recording programs.

The $1.15 billion balance was paid to about 8,500 licensed dairy farms in Ontario which support more than 13,000 families.

Dairy Farmers of Ontario is a non-profit dairy farmer organization that represents all milk producers in Ontario and is totally financed by them.

SHUR-GAIN HEIFER PROGRAM

Getting your heifers to calve at the proper age and stature is a key part of any successful dairy operation.

One of the most important phases of the dairy heifer's development is during the 6 month to 15 month stage. The heifer is gaining in stature, developing a mammary system and will hopefully be bred by the end of this period.

SHUR-GAIN has developed a series of products to let your heifers reach these goals:

- 35% Dairy Heifer Supplement
- 17% Dairy Heifer Developer
- Dairy Plus Mineral

Now all with RUMENSIN for effective coccidiosis control.

Dairy Commission launches Internet site

The Canadian Dairy Commission (CDC) has launched its Internet site (<http://www.agr.ca/cdc>) intended to further serve Canadian dairy industry stakeholders and the general public.

A wide variety of dairy information, including factsheets, press releases, annual report highlights and regular updates on production and consumption trends will be accessible through the CDC site.

With the launch of the Commission's Internet site, some of the most current data on Canada's dairy sector will be accessible to millions of users around the world through one of the most timely, cost-effective and modern means available.

The CDC, a federal Crown Corporation created in 1966, is a key facilitator within the Canadian dairy sector. The Commission helps determine, initiate and administer policies and programs which meet dairy producers and processor needs, while ensuring that Canadian consumers are provided with adequate supplies of quality dairy products.

Milk donations acknowledged

A very special acknowledgement and thank you is extended to dairy farmers in Hastings, Prince Edward and Lennox & Addington Counties, who are participating in the fresh milk donations to local food banks. Commencing December, 1650 litres of milk had been committed; by Jan. 1, this increased to 1710 litres, and Feb. 1 commitments total 1940 litres.

The milk is hauled by local carriers of the Ontario Milk Transport Association to Reid's Dairy in Belleville. Reid's are donating the processing, packaging and delivery to Quinte (refrigerated) Warehousing in Belleville.

Food Bank and food issuing participants are Belleville's Gleaners, Deseronto, Madoc, Picton, Stirling, Trenton, and Salvation Army Family Services in Belleville, Nanapanee and Tweed.

The number of recipients served by the participants establishes the quantity of fresh milk each receives for the month. Smaller agencies receive 80 litres -- 60 pouches. Picton, Trenton, Salvation Army (Belleville) and Gleaners share the balance.

The fresh milk is a welcome addition to food banks and agencies. Producers' donations yet to be committed will serve children of more families. Eventually the quantity donated might provide recipients with a whole bag of milk.

(Note: The preceding article was provided by Beverley Poste, of Gleaners Food Bank. For more information regarding donations, contact Gordon Donnan at 1-613-395-2907 or Alphonse Poiras at 1-613-354-7301.)

Building a more innovative and prosperous rural economy

Need start-up money to market a new product? To test a new manure-handling method that protects the ground water supply? To train community members to use the information highway?

Ralph Goodale, federal Minister of Agriculture and Agri-Food, recently presented a $7 million cheque to Roger George, Chair of the Agricultural Adaptation Council (AAC).

The AAC is a non-profit coalition of 47 Ontario agri-food and rural organizations created to handle $28 million from the new Canadian Adaptation and Rural Development Fund, which will be paid out over four years.

Goodale praised the Council for taking charge of its own future. "The ACC will use its funds to make Ontario's agri-food sector even more competitive and self-reliant as it grapples with this era of unprecedented change."

Horticultural Report

By Madeline Simpson

There was a good turnout for the general meeting of the Campbellford and District Horticultural Society at Jenkins Hall Monday, May 6th.

President Robert Lisk introduced the new "fiddleheads," a spring delicacy to be enjoyed just as the ferns send up their first tightly coiled fronds that curl at the top like the head of a fiddle. They may be eaten raw or simmered in salt water and served with butter.

We were reminded of the plant sale coming up on Saturday, May 18th at 4 p.m. at the Bank of Montreal corner Perennials, seedlings, house plants, preserves and baking will be on sale.

Robert and Tine Lisk attended District 4 Spring Seminar in Bobcaygeon. Tine presented a comprehensive report of the day. Seventeen societies were represented from the district. In the mini-show competition among the societies, Tine won four first prizes for her entries.

Two excellent speakers addressed the meeting. Chuck Lamer spoke on Marketing, Recruiting, Training and Retaining, and how to apply these skills to running a successful organization.

Miles Martin spoke in the afternoon on making maple syrup, showing both old and modern methods. He estimated that one older tree in their bush had been tapped 300 times.

Glenn Bennett supplied answers to the questions in the Suggestion Box, and praised the excellent 32 entries in the mini-show featuring arrangements for Mother's Day, spring flowers, seedlings and show-offs.

He then introduced the guest speaker, Rowena Burns, of Burns Water Gardens in Baltimore, Ont. This started as a hobby for her but developed into a family business. The Burns belong to the International Waterlily Society and attend symposiums (1 week to 10 days) each year, all over North America and Europe.

Since the dawn of time, man has had a fascination with the sight, colour, reflection and tranquility of water, and has been intrigued by the sound and movement of water. Many years ago, streams and fountains were added to the gardens of larger estates. Many were copied from Italian designs. Examples of these can be found in the fountain gardens of Versailles, built for Louis XIV; the Burchart Gardens in an abandoned quarry in Victoria, B.C.; and Japanese gardens that contrive to have small streams and tinkling waterfalls within their environs.

Since World War Two, ponds have become very popular—the farm pond, concrete ponds which must be reinforced because of our harsh winters; fibreglass-lined ponds or even a bathtub pond.

Building A Pond: Choose a site close to the house, so that life at the pond can be observed. First, lay out a garden hose in the shape you desire. Keep it simple.

Imitate nature by leaving shelves of earth at the sides for plants that prefer to grow in shallow water. Dig the outline of the pond first. Use a level as you dig so there is no downhill grade. Slope the sides leaving the shelves for bog gardens and marginal plants.

Next place the liner. Artificial black liners are strong and yet flexible. Run about an inch of water into the bottom to hold the liner in place while you smooth away the wrinkles. Weigh the edges and leave for a few days to settle. Decide what the edges will be—flagstone or bricks.

Place so that they slightly overlap the edge to hide the lining. Fill with water to a depth of 30-36 inches.

Plants: Some that are suitable for edging include yellow iris, blue flag, cardinal flower, jewelweed, asilbe, lilyluna, turtlehead, variegated grasses and cat-tails. In deeper water, plant pickerel weed, arrowhead and water lettuce. Tropical plants can be added but will have to be taken inside and treated like houseplants in the fall.

These are water canna, bog lily, papyrus, water hyacinth and lotus. The latter is very invasive but muskrats love it and will gladly eat two thirds of the roots, leaving just the right amount for the new season.

Pond lilies should be planted in heavy clay soil in a dark plastic tub. Pack the earth firmly. Add special fertilizer for water lilies in pellet form which is slow-acting. Do not substitute other fertilizers. Place the water-lily with the crown at the surface. Pack down and add fine gravel on top. Lower the tub on a spacer crate, so that the lily is near the top in warmer water. In the fall, take out the crate, and lower the tub container to the bottom of the pond. Cut foliage of plants back in the fall and cover the pond with a net to keep out leaves and debris. Fish may be added to the pond.

Knowing your golf clubs

wrist action before impact:

* If the player holds the club with normal grip pressure, he may now have "overactive" wrist movement causing the ball to be pulled left of target.

* Cause the golfer to hold the club too far out on the end where the grip is larger, thus increasing his chances of "losing" the club at the top of the backswing and reducing club control.

Rule of thumb: Too large a grip reduces normal wrist roll and generally causes a pushed shot. Too small a grip increases the possibility of a very active wrist roll which can cause erratic directional control but mostly results in a pulled shot. A properly fitted grip is achieved when the two middle fingers of the upper hand barely touch the heel portion of the palm. Above all else, the grip size must be comfortable. A professional clubmaker can evaluate your grip size and adjust it by changing the size of grip by using more or less tape under the grip.

(This is another in a series of articles designed to educate golfers on the technical aspects of golf equipment and how they affect their golf games. Mr. Alex operates a golf shop on Highway 30 outside Campbellford, specializing in component clubmaking.)

Norwood's busy 4-H Rabbit Club gears up for another season

than enough for one animal over the course of the year and hutches can be made for as little as $10.

"It is really good for kids starting out," Tara says of the Club. "There is less actual training and maintenance time."

4-H, she says, is not just about learning. It is very social and a good place for young people to meet each other.

Tara says she likes to take Rabbit Club members on a car tour each summer visiting each member's house to see their animals.

It is a good way to wrap up the summer, she notes.

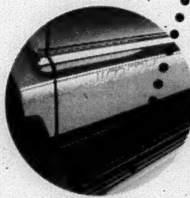

4-H has a lot to offer young people, she says, and offers a wide variety of projects that leave lasting and positive impressions on members, who range in age from ten to 21.

To be a 4-H member you have to be ten years of age as of Jan. 31. If you are interested in Norwood's 4-H Rabbit Club give Tara a call at 639-2294.

CHSS entry, the Cruisers finished ninth overall. The team consisted of Zack Clarke, Scott McRorie, Jason Walker, Tim Brady, Jarret Elson. All the students are in the Environmental Sciences class taught by Bill Mitchell.

The winners of the provincial competition, which was held in Oshawa on May 16 go on to compete in the International Envirothon competition in Lincoln, Nebraska in August. The top three finishers were: 1st - St. Mary's College from Sault Ste. Marie; 2nd - Cornwall Collegiate Vocational School; 3rd - Dryden High School. The first two teams were separated by just 0.6 per cent and there was a double tie breaker for third and fourth.

The Envirothon is internationally recognized "reach for the top" style competition for teams of students from Grades 9 to 12.

The CHSS teams earned a right to compete in the provincial competition after finishing first and second in the Central Ontario Region Envirothon, held on May 3 at the Leslie M Frost Natural Resources Centre in Dorset, Ontario. A team from Crestwood high school in Peterborough placed third and also competed at the provincial event. The team finished 11th overall.
